CLASH OVER 'STREITY' STORY IN LENGEL CASE

HARTER CALLS COURT ATTACHE AFTER 'LIFER' DEFIES STATE

Defense Objects to Use of Canton Testimony.

LAWYERS ARGUE

Judge Lones Will Rule on Admissibility of Record.

Bulletin

LISBON, Feb. 17.—Judge W. F. Lones adjourned court at 1:45 o'clock this afternoon until 3:30, when, he announced, he will rule on the admissibility of the Streitenberger testimony given in the first trial of S. A. Lengel.

LISBON, O., Feb. 17.—Another legal battle between the prosecution and counsel for S. A. Lengel, ex-police chief of Canton, on trial for alleged complicity in the slaying of Don Mellett, was being waged here today.

Miss Travis on Stand. In an attempt to get into the records certain testimony introduced in Lengel's first trial through Floyd Streitenberger, who has refused to testify, Prosecutor Henry Harter called Miss Florence Travis of Stark county to the witness stand.

Miss Travis acted as court stenographer in the Canton trial of the former chief, and Streitenberger was the "state's star witness." The defense entered strenuous objections to the state's effort to introduce the testimony, and Judge W. F. Lones was to rule on the admissibility as soon as both sides presented their arguments.

Canton Barber Is Witness. Howard R. Fowler, Canton barber, saw a touring car drive up to the Lengel home about midnight of the night Mellett was murdered, he testified today.

Occupants of the car, he said, went up on the porch, remained there a few minutes and then returned to the car and drove away. He was unable to hear what was said.

HODGE, CAL. Feb. 17. HERBERT ASQUITH, called in his old age Lord Oxford and Asquith, now dead in England, represented in his life and work Britain's best type of statesman. Well educated, with high ideals, free from mean personal ambition, devoted entirely to his country's welfare, Asquith was one of a long line of able men that have built and maintained the British nation. Britain will mourn his death, and honor him as he deserves. Fortunately that nation served by so many men of ability, and unselfish devotion.

ON the Mojave desert, where this is written, the "trade rat," queer little manlike creature, collects all sorts of things useless to him. He brings odds and ends into your shack, taking other odds and ends away, hence his name.

Have you considered the collecting habits of your fellow man? The most powerful, at this moment, collect surplus millions of dollars, and think money in bank makes them great. It only makes them nervous.

OLD rulers collected dwarfs, half idiots, strange animals, and "jewels," often wiser than they. One of the richest Rothschilds collected all known varieties of fleas, including the one that bites the Arctic fox. That was not time wasted. Fleas carry the plague, science wants to know them.

AIRMAN GIVES ALARM IN FIRE

CLEVELAND, Feb. 17.—Paul Collins, air mail pilot, is still receiving congratulations on his inauguration of the "propeller fire alarm."

According to a letter received here by W. L. Smith, division superintendent of the National Air Transport Lines, from a citizen of Clearfield, Pa., Collins swooped down to a few feet above a burning house in the latter city early on the morning of February 10, and awakened the occupants—husband, wife, and six children—by making the motor roar. All escaped. The house was destroyed.

OPPOSE USE OF SCHOOLS IN MINERS' DRIVE

Board of Education Reaffirms Stand Against Plan.

ACTION EXPLAINED

Parents of Pupils Will be Urged to Contribute.

The board of education last night declined to reconsider its action, taken at a meeting two weeks ago, in refusing to permit a Miners' Donation day in the public schools.

Reaffirming its stand that many families in the city were financially unable to contribute, the board turned down a plea from a committee representing the National Brotherhood of Operative Pottery and Trades and Labor council for permission to collect foodstuffs and clothing for the relief of miners and other needy persons in the schools.

Will T. Blake, editor and manager of The Potters' Herald, and Frank Hull, seventh vice-president of the Brotherhood, were spokesmen for the committee. They called attention to the relief campaigns which had been conducted in Sebring, Salem and other communities where school children had taken an active part.

Blake suggested that if the drive were approved the donations could be split three ways, a part going to the miners of the West Point fields, another to miners in the Mt. Pleasant district and the other part to be used in local relief work.

Red Cross Campaign Closes. J. T. Croxall declared that the school board had rejected the proposal because of the embarrassing position for many of the school children whose (Continued on Page 8, Column 6)

U. S. FLYERS OFF FOR WINNIPEG

HASBROUCK HEIGHTS, N. J., Feb. 17.—Bernie Balchen and Floyd Bennett, each flying a Wright-motored universal Fokker plane, took off at 10 o'clock today for Winnipeg, Canada. The two planes are to be part of the fleet of the Western Canada Airways, a mail, passenger and express service. Stops are to be made by the flyers at Bellefonte, Pa., Cleveland, Chicago, and Madison, Wis.

SON HELD AS FATHER DIES

Late Stanley Ketchel's Father Found Dead in Barn.

GRAND RAPIDS, MICH., Feb. 17.—John Ketchel, brother of Stanley Ketchel, middleweight champion who was slain several years ago, was under arrest today in connection with the death of his father, Thomas Ketchel, 74 years old, who was found dead in his barn here yesterday. Sheriff Byron J. Patterson, who made the arrest, would not discuss John's possible connection with the death. The son was recently arrested for assaulting his wife.

The elder Ketchel was found on the floor of the barn. His throat had been cut, but no weapon was found.

PARENT-TEACHER UNITS GET O. K.

Clerk-treasurer Calls for Advance of Taxes to Meet Payroll of Teachers and Janitors.

Data for the annual high school commencement exercises was definitely fixed for Thursday, May 24, while the eighth grade commencement will be held on Friday, May 25, the closing day of the school term, as a result of action last night by the board of education.

For several years the graduation program has been given during the week following the closing of schools. Superintendent of Schools McVay recommended the change as out-of-town teachers leave the city immediately after the close of the term.

The spring vacation week will be March 26-30, classes resuming April 2. Request for the installation of approximately 50 more lockers in the high school building was referred to the building and supplies committee for a report at the next meeting.

The board fixed a rental fee of $75 on the high school gymnasium for the tri-state basketball tournament which will be held here on Friday and Saturday, March 30 and 31.

Pre-school Clinic.

The board also went on record as favoring the organization of Parent-Teachers associations in every school building of the district. Superintendent McVay reported such societies in six of the city's school zones.

Emmett J. Gaston, clerk-treasurer of the board, declared that another advance of taxes from the county treasurer will be required to meet the February payroll. He reported a bank balance of $2,824.99 in school funds on February 15.

Upon recommendation of Miss Esther Neal, school nurse, who met with the board to outline her program for next term, Dr. Collin Kinsey, J. T. Croxall and C. A. Ferguson were named to co-operate with the nurse in conducting a pre-school clinic for children who will enroll next September. The assistance of the state and the physicians of the city in examining these children will be sought.

CARL L. HEEBNER, AGED 26, DIES

Carl Lawrence Heebner, 26, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Heebner, 1016 Ephraim street, died today in the city hospital after three months' illness.

Besides his parents, he leaves one brother, George L. Heebner, and one sister, Marie Heebner, both at home. Funeral services will be held in the home at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, in charge of Rev. J. G. Reinartz, pastor of St. John's Lutheran church, of which he was a member. Burial will be made in Riverview cemetery.

Salvation Army Organized Here 44 Years Ago; Andrew Van Dyne, 71, Charter Member

Forty-four years ago today, on February 17, 1884, the Salvation Army was organized in East Liverpool, in a second floor room of a building at the corner of Third street and Broadway, and then known as the "Opera House."

Andrew Van Dyne, 71, West Eighth street, is the only one of the seven charter members who still reside in East Liverpool. Van Dyne, who has retained his membership in the organization since its birth in the pottery city, will tell the story of the Army at a meeting of the S. S. Bennett class in the Church of the Nazarene, St. Clair and Lincoln avenues, at 7:30 o'clock tonight.

The Ohio river was receding after having reached a flood stage when the meeting was called. Van Dyne, given permission to organize a post here, asked six of his friends to attend, he recalls.

Meetings were held in the Opera House building for a few months after which Bradshaw hall, which then stood on the present site of the Standard Oil company filling station on Broadway, was rented. A few years later leaders in the organization purchased a lot and erected a building in East Sixth street on the present site of the Walsh building. This property was sold, and for a while services were held in the old Fifth street skating rink.

13 MEMBERS OF JURY IN S. A. LENGEL TRIAL

H. F. SINCLAIR CONTEMPT CASE IS NEAR END

Oil Millionaire and Detective Rest Defense.

10-WEEK FIGHT

Trial Grew Out of Shadowing of Jurors.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—The end of the long-drawn-out contempt trial of Harry F. Sinclair, millionaire oil man, William J. Burns, international detective, and their associates neared today, when the defense rested its case, and the government offered no rebuttal testimony.

The case, which has dragged for more than ten weeks through a legal labyrinth in district supreme court, grew out of the shadowing of the jury in the oil conspiracy trial of Sinclair and ex-Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall. The government cited the defendants for contempt alleging Burns detectives, hired by Sinclair, had maintained improper and illegal surveillance over the jury, which resulted in a mistrial being declared.

Justice Siddons agreed to the dropping of contempt charges against Charles L. Veitsch, manager of the Baltimore branch of the Burns agency today, leaving charges against the remaining four, Sinclair, Burns and his son, and Henry Mason Day, an official of the Sinclair Oil company, managers of the local office. It was shown that Veitsch's only connection with the shadowing of the jurors was in bringing money from the Baltimore office to pay off the Burns operatives.

"LET LINDBERGH ALONE"—MITCHELL

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—"Let Lindbergh alone."

This was the blunt suggestion of Colonel William Mitchell former assistant chief of the U. S. army air service, when asked today to comment upon the interesting controversy that has arisen over the question: "Should Colonel Lindbergh avoid making long hazardous flights in his zeal to promote aviation and, instead, play safe and not endanger his life — so precious to his country?" Secretary of War Dwight F. Davis has advocated the safer policy. Davis' views have caused widespread comment in this country and abroad and the question is being debated pro and con.

RECOVERED BODY MAY BE FLYER'S

VENTURA, CAL., Feb. 17.—A coroner's inquest will be held today over the body of a man, washed ashore on the beach near here, to determine the truth of the theory that the remains may be those of Lieutenant Vilas R. Knope, one of the flyers lost during the Dole air race to Hawaii last August.

EDDIE FOY'S WIFE COLLAPSES

CHICAGO, Feb. 17.—Mrs. Eddie Foy, wife of the veteran actor who died yesterday in Kansas City, was so overcome by the tragedy here today it became necessary to employ a stretcher to remove her from the Santa Fe train which arrived in Chicago with Mrs. Foy and her husband's body.

Mrs. Foy was rushed in a waiting automobile to another railroad station from which she was to leave for New York. Six children of the entertainer stood with bowed heads as the casket was removed. A large number of vaudeville trouperes were present when the train arrived.

ARMY'S CHIEF

Field Major Hughes.

The next permanent barracks was erected in West Fourth street. This building was used until the present brick structure was erected at the corner of Third street and Market streets.

Membership of the Army is now 148. Two outposts have been established, the East End branch having an attendance of 96 while the Beechwood unit has an average of about 65 members attending its services.

Field Major Joseph Hughes, who is in charge of the citadel, came here two years ago last September from Akron where he was located for 11 years. He succeeded Commandant John G. Dean, who is now connected with No. 6 barracks at Cleveland.

HADASSAH CHIEF TO VISIT HERE

Mrs. A. H. Vixman, honorary president of the Pittsburgh Hadassah chapter, will be the honor guest at a 1 o'clock luncheon-bridge party which will be given in the main dining hall of the Travels' hotel, Fourth street, next Tuesday afternoon, by members of the East Liverpool chapter.

More than 50 members of the local organization are expected to attend. Miss Rebecca Resnick, resident of the local branch, will

MAYOR VETOES TWO CLAUSES IN PAY BOOSTS

Benedum Strikes Out "Emergency" in Police Ordinance.

SIGNS ENACTMENT

Executive Also Kills Salary Raise for Edward Cox.

Mayor Ralph C. Benedum today signed two salary-raising ordinances after vetoing sections which did not meet his approval.

The emergency clause in the ordinance which increases the monthly pay of patrolmen from $150 to $160 was vetoed, and as a result the measure will not become effective for 30 days, or until March 1. The mayor held that the clause which stated that "police can no longer be retained at their present salary" was "illegal" and signed the ordinance with this section removed.

Proposed salary increase for Edward Cox, chief engineer of the water works, from $185 to $200 per month, was also vetoed in the ordinance which grants wage boosts to street, water works and disposal workers. All other parts of the ordinance were approved.

The mayor declared that the salary of the chief engineer of the water works plant had always been on a par with that of the chief of police, chief of the fire department, water works clerk and chief lineman, all of whom now receive $190 per month. He expressed a willingness to sign a measure which would increase the salary of Cox from $185 to $190 per month if council passed the ordinance.

This is the first time since Mayor Benedum took office more than two years ago that he has vetoed certain sections of legislation which he signed as a whole.

SHIRLEY LEWIS IS FINED $300

Shirley Lewis, who resides on the Lincoln highway near La Crosse, was fined $300 and costs and committed to the county jail by Justice M. K. Zimman late last night after he pleaded guilty to a charge of possessing intoxicating liquors. Lewis signed a waiver of a jury trial.

Lewis was arrested following a raid upon his home by Sheriff Wright, Deputy Sheriff Kindavatter, Captain of Police Conley of this city and two other deputies at 10:20 o'clock last night. Four cases of home brew and 10 gallons of beer in the process of manufacture were confiscated and destroyed, the raiders said.

Steamship Chucky Blows up 100 Miles Off Japanese Coast.

TOKIO CREW AIDS

Ill-fated Vessel Left United States on Jan. 19.

TOKIO, Feb. 17.—Fifteen seamen were killed when the American steamship Chucky, bound from California to Yokohama with 72,000 tanks of crude petroleum on board, exploded 100 miles off the Japanese coast, said dispatches printed here this evening. Capt. Holmes was among the victims.

Survivors Cling to Wreckage. The Japanese steamship Matsuyama rescued 21 survivors, including 14 Americans. They were found clinging to wreckage and, after being picked up, were taken first to Misaki, then to Yokohama.

The Chucky left the United States on January 19. The disaster is believed to have taken place on Wednesday.

LONDON, Feb. 17.—Fifteen members of the crew of the steamer Chucky were killed when the vessel, carrying a cargo of gasoline, exploded and sank enroute to Yokohama, according to advices received today by the Sheridan Steamship company.

Twenty-one men were saved and were taken ashore at Misaki. The Chucky was formerly owned by the Sheridan company but at present belongs to the Chile Steamship company of New York. The crew was signed aboard at New York.

KIRK APPOINTED SCHLESINGER AID

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 17.—The following are among the list of appointments to positions of resident deputy highway directors in the various counties of the state, as announced today by State Highway Director Schlesinger. The appointments become effective March 1.

Columbiana county, Lloyd C. Kirk of Lisbon.

Jefferson county, Harvey F. Brown of Steubenville.

Mahoning county, Geo. M. Montgomery of Youngstown.

WOMAN LEAPS TO HER DEATH

LOS ANGELES, CAL., Feb. 17.—Mrs. Margaret T. Lewis, wife of Harry H. Lewis, wealthy diamond merchant of New York, leaped from a bedroom on the sixth floor of the Biltmore hotel to her death here early today. Her husband, asleep in the same room, was awakened by his wife's screams in time to see her plunge through the window.

She had been dependent over ill health, her husband said.

Mrs. H. P. Sleeman Critically Ill. Mrs. H. P. Sleeman, nee Marion Young, 908 Avondale street is critically ill in a Pittsburgh hospital following an operation which she underwent Wednesday. Mr. and Mrs. John Young, McKinnon avenue, her parents, were summoned to her bedside yesterday afternoon.

FIRE DESTROYS BARN, GARAGE

Bucket Brigade Saves Huffman Home in Dixonville.

A barn and garage, owned by Clarence Huffman, rural mail carrier, of Dixonville, was destroyed by fire of undetermined origin at 11:15 o'clock last night, entailing a loss estimated at $700, partially covered by insurance.

The blaze was discovered by John Pritchard and Harry Humphrey, neighbors. They awakened Huffman, who called the fire department.

A Chevrolet touring car, which Huffman uses in his mail deliveries, was pushed from the burning building, but was damaged beyond repair. A bucket brigade was formed to keep the flames from spreading to the Huffman home, about 80 feet distant from the barn.

Hay, grain and gas-barn were destroyed.

FEW MINUTES WITH AUTHORS

By Miss Mary Hall, Librarian

Current Magazines.

There are a great many people who do not read books but almost everybody reads the current magazines. Do you know the library has on file about 60 of the best periodicals? Besides the current issue the back numbers are kept. If you are reading a continued article in a magazine and have missed a number the library can supply it and you can finish your story.

The reading room is a delightful place to spend an hour or two of your leisure time browsing around among the books and magazines. The February magazines are almost all in and quite a few of the March numbers have arrived. The following list of the "Ten Outstanding Magazine Articles," has been selected by a Council of Librarians as the best material from the February magazines. Look over the list and see how many you have read.

"Business the Civilizer," by Ernest Elmo Calkins, in the Atlantic.

"A Southerner Views Lincoln," Archibald Rutledge in Scribner's.

"Story of Fifth Avenue," by Capt. W. J. Pedrick in Magazine of Business.

"Church Crisis in England," by J. A. Spender in North American Review.

"The Tuberculosis Game," by M. Fishberg in the American Mercury.

"Is Science a Blind Alley?" by J. T. Adams in Harper's Magazine.

"Where Does Ireland Stand?" by Francis Hackett in Survey Graphic.

"Is Protestantism Declining?" by H. Asbury and Rev. Cadman in the Forum.

"Eighty Years of Gold," by John H. Hammond in The Nation's Business.

"Companionate Marriage," by V. Van De Water in the New Age.

The leading feature of the World's Work is "Which Way America?" compiled by Frederick Palmer. This is the first of a series of answers by prominent Americans. In this article government is discussed, and the March issue will contain the second article which will be devoted to labor and industry.

"House and Garden" appears as attractive as usual with illustrations of beautiful interiors. There is also a "Questionnaire" for the lover of antiques in the answers of which will be found a great amount of valuable information. Herbert Durand contributes an interesting article on "A Famous Canadian Rock Garden," which is located near Montreal.

"The Mentor" for February is full of interest from cover to cover. "The Great Partnership," by Grant Overton is the story of the old favorites Gilbert and Sullivan. The two names call to our minds the operas "Pinafore" and "The Mikado," which were probably their most important works. "I Cannot Tell a Lie," by Richard Dean, explains the story of the cherry tree which is associated with George Washington and created by Parson Weems.

Glasgow now has two-seater taxis.

REV. EDWARD ONEY PREACHES HERE

Rev. Edward C. Oney, of Ashland, Ky., spoke last night at the revival services in the Nazarene church on the topic, "Dust Thou Art and to Dust Thou Shall Return."

Singing tonight will be in charge of a group from the East Liverpool Nazarene church.

Services will be held tomorrow night.

Customs Scandal Charged.

That employees of the custom house department are imposing fines on importers with the hope of getting the goods thrust into dispute, has just been charged by a newspaper in Buenos Aires, Argentina. It cites that when the importers appeal the fines to the federal court nine-tenths of the appeals are successful. Goods seized for breach of regulations are confiscated for the benefit of the employees of the custom house, and it is said that employees file many complaints on the chance that some will be successful. Merchants are complaining because they are put to additional legal expense and are unable to get their importations promptly.

Ban Hindu Child Marriage.

Hindu girls below the age of 12 and boys under 15 may not marry, according to a bill that is being discussed by the Indian national assembly. By defeating an official amendment that the bill be circulated for public opinion, the assembly approved the principle of legislative prevention of child marriage.

ONE IDEA AT A TIME!

Try to get the picture of yourself as a farmer with a field of corn. If the crop of corn is to be successfully brought to maturity you must ruthlessly weed out everything that tries to grow in that field except corn. All must be sacrificed for the benefit of the corn. The wise farmer has a place for each crop, and he keeps each crop to its place. People do not fail through lack of new ideas but through inability or lack of courage to stick to old ideas.

FLANNELS Very New!

Is your Spring fever a sudden fervor for new clothes? Tempting new fabrics lure one to try the fascinating experiment of "making clothes," and lo, each piece of goods is needing only the touch of clever fingers to make it a pretty something to wear. We note a tendency toward extreme but wearable modernistic patterns in the new flannels. Candy stripes, checks and plaids. Blue is good, black and white combinations, greens, tan, brown, red and orange shades. It is easy to find a solid color to match the design you choose.

NAB SUSPECTED BANK BANDIT

Police Recover $1,500
Obtained in New Carlisle Hold-up.

DAYTON, O., Feb. 17.—William J. Sherman, 30, is under arrest here to-day charged with robbery, while police announce the recovery of approximately $1,500 obtained yesterday by a bandit who held up Miss Anna Prantz, assistant cashier of the state bank of New Carlisle, near Springfield.

Police reported they traced Sherman through the license number on the small coupe in which the bank bandit escaped. Sherman was arrested a few hours after the bank holdup when he drove to the garage at his home.

Sherman maintains he operated unassisted, police report, though it was reported yesterday that two men took part in the robbery.

"Army's" Birthday

Marking another milestone in its progress toward bringing religious solace as well as answering appeals for relief from the needy, the East Liverpool branch of the Salvation Army tonight will celebrate its forty-fourth anniversary.

And one of the seven charter members of the organization, whose influence has been felt in every worthwhile movement in behalf of the "man who may be down but is never out," will tell the story of the launching of the Army at a meeting of the S. S. Bennett Sunday school class in the Nazarene church, St. Clair and Lincoln avenues, at 7:30 o'clock. He is Andrew Van Dyne, now 71 years old, who sponsored the first post of the Salvation Army in the Ceramic City and invited six friends to co-operate with him in the movement.

From that small number the Salvation Army, now in charge of Field Major Joseph J. Hughes, has increased in membership until today it has 118 names on the rolls of the Third street citadel and two outposts—one in East End, with a regular attendance of 90, and another in Beechwood, where 65 persons are listed as members.

The success of the movement is attested, too, by the erection of the Army's own house of worship in the downtown district, and the loyalty of the men and women who brave adverse weather conditions in their earnest efforts to win souls for God.

And in a material way, too, the Army members show their interest in their neighbor, for few organizations can boast of more charitable work than the members of Major Hughes' unit. This fact is driven home during the Christmas season, with the help of the public, they provide Yuletide dinners for 200 families and raise funds to assist in coping with demands for food, fuel, clothing and even house rent and medical aid for the less fortunate.

Happy returns of the day, Major Hughes and co-workers.

Science Triumphs

Thanks to surgical science, Meta Marie Keller of Marseilles, Ill., is a normal, healthy child a little more than a year old.

Meta was born one of a set of twins joined together in the lower part of the abdomen in such a manner that the same blood stream coursed through both bodies. Each weighed about five and one-half pounds. But while Meta cried lustily, as all healthy babies are supposed to do, there were no signs of life in her twin's body, except the blood flowing from Meta's heart. The twin, apparently, was dead—and unless something was done quickly, Meta quite likely would die from the exertion of supplying blood enough for the two bodies.

But the home of Meta's parents is a sordid one. The child was born by the flickering light of a kerosene lamp. And there was nothing at hand which the attending surgeon could use as a means of helping him in the delicate operation he proposed in an effort to save Meta's life.

So an incubator was improvised. It answered its purpose well. The living child and her twin, dead but attached to her body, were removed to a hospital at Ottawa, Ill., several miles distance. There a consultation disclosed that only an immediate operation would save Meta's life.

Ether was administered. The operation was performed. It ended successfully. Meta, with a surgical incision six inches long closed with twenty stitches, was given oxygen for eight hours to combat the effects of the anesthetic. She revived and was taken home to her mother, who had remained in the little farm house.

Style and Business

A professional business observer says business men are now interested chiefly in women and Henry Ford.

As for Ford, their interest is, of course, in his new car. They wonder how it will affect business. But why their interest in women?

The answer is that what women will do is just as important as what Ford will do. And there are closer parallels than might be supposed.

It's always hard to tell what Ford will do next. It's always hard, if not impossible, to tell what women will do next. Ford's industrial surprises affect the motor industry and indirectly various other industries. Women's surprises, not in what they produce but in what they consume, play a big and incalculable part in the clothing industry and many others.

Style is the thing with women, says this observer. "Style cuts across business like a knife." When women want a thing, they all want it at once; and in a week they may all change to something else. So manufacturers of established products used by women are never sure of continuance, and are afraid of guessing wrong if they spring anything new.

If style, then, is important to women, it may be still more important to business. Business men need, more than ever, to study feminine taste and crowd psychology.

Tobacco, Alcohol and Youth

It is reported that Germany is consuming 25 per cent less beer per person than before the World war. German brewers, who ought to understand the situation, attribute this to two causes: The impoverishment of the masses, and the "Youth and Sports Movements which encourage total abstinence."

Members of the Youth Movement organization go in for sound bodies. They take no dictation from their elders, but they appear to have arrived, by their own thought and observation, at the conclusion that alcohol and tobacco do not further their aims, but hinder them instead.

If this is the real tendency among German young people today, it illustrates what enthusiasm for an ideal can accomplish.

More popular fiction: Dr. Elisha S. Loomis, an American mathematics teacher, has written a monumental work on "The Pythagorean Proposition," with 237 figures and 230 possible solutions for this fascinating plot: "The square described upon the hypotenuse of a right-angled triangle is equal to the sum of the squares described upon the other two sides."

HASKIN DAILY LETTER

By Frederick J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 17.—There appears to be a type of man in the world who has the faculty of becoming immensely wealthy without becoming correspondingly famous. Riches and fame usually go hand in hand for two reasons, first the man capable of amassing a great fortune has genius which attracts fame. His wealth ordinarily comes through some outstanding exploit or series of exploits which would have brought him fame even though they might have failed to bring him great wealth.

The notable exceptions are made up of men who quietly make money, seemingly without effort, without doing anything which shakes the world bringing publicity in its train.

Great Britain has just brought to light three such men. What makes it still stranger is that they are newspaper men who, had they entertained the least desire for notoriety had at their common more ways of gaining it than nearly any one else.

They are the Berry brothers—Sid William Ewart, Berry, James Gomer Berry, and Lord Backland. Their position is given especially striking contrast by the widespread fame of the late Lord Northcliffe. He, too, was a great newspaper publisher, but he also rose high in the councils of the government and his name was on all lips.

The curiosity provoked by the purchase of the Telegraph brought out that the Berry brothers owned 22 daily papers, 88 weekly papers and fortnightly and monthly magazines, 5 magazines devoted to serial stories, and 18 annual publications. Weekly papers are much more popular in England than they are here. Lord Northcliffe owned many of them. Large dailies sometimes have weekly editions that run to tremendous circulations.

In addition to these periodicals, it became known that the brothers also owned two large book publishing companies. The British public has discovered that, all unknown to them, they have had serving them the largest single publishing syndicate in the world. It is reported that the brothers recently sought to buy the famous London Daily Mail, the London Evening News, and the London Weekly Dispatch from Lord Rothermere, brother of Lord Northcliffe, offering the fabulous sum of $75,000,000 for the group, but had their offer refused.

John D. Rockefeller has been famous for more than a generation; the names of the Vanderbilts, the Goulds, the Astors, the Whitneys, and not a few others are synonymous with great riches. But by side by side with them are what might be termed the silent millionaires. It is said that Henry Walters, of Baltimore, is one of the richest men in the world but the public generally has never heard of him.

Before Andrew W. Mellon became secretary of the treasury he was practically unknown outside of his native Pittsburgh. Indeed the Mellon family, reputed to be worth a billion dollars, has never filled the public eye in the sense that J. P. Morgan or any of the Astors or Vanderbilts has done.

Robert Z. Drake, of Omaha, Nebraska, is another who may be added to the list. The income returns show that the nation has actually thousands of millionaires and in many cases the wealth and the consequent power of these men are not suspected by their nearest neighbors. Living quietly, they also work quietly and affective with no desire to live in palaces, have private cars, steam yachts, and political position. Like the Berry brothers in England, they stick to their knitting and let others have the publicity.

This paper puts at your disposal the services of an extensive organization in Washington to serve you in any capacity that relates to information. This service is free. Failure to make use of it deprives you of benefits to which you are entitled. Your obligation is only two cents in stamps enclosed with your inquiry for direct reply. Address the East Liverpool Review Information Bureau, Frederick J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C.

Q. How many licensed airplane pilots are there? Is there plenty of room in this field? J. L. B.

A. The department of commerce says that 1350 persons have received pilots' licenses. There are 4145 pilots who have filed applications for pilots' licenses. At the present time there are more student airplane pilots than there is a demand for them. However, the airplane industry is expected to develop rapidly and there should be in the near future a formation of new companies which will need experienced aviators and mechanics.

Q. How thick is the hide of a buffalo? Of an elephant? V. L. G.

A. The National Biological Park informs us that the skin of a mature buffalo is about 1-16 of an inch thick. Where the hair is long, however, around the head and shoulders, the skin is sometimes as thick as 3-16 of an inch. The skin of an ordinary sized elephant is approximately 3-4 of an inch in thickness.

Q. What is the longest time a person has stayed under water without a breathing appliance? I. C. B.

A. The diving record for depth and endurance was made by Ed. Harrison, depth 58 feet; under water 3 minutes, 48 seconds.

Q. What is the population of India? M. A.

A. It is more than 300,000,000.

Q. Who were the Essenes? Did Jesus Christ and John the Baptist belong to the order? C. W.

A. The Essenes were a Jewish brotherhood which was founded probably after the Macabees at least two centuries before Christ, existing to about 200 A. D. The records of them are not found in the Bible or rabbinical literature, but certain profane writers such as Philo, Josephus, and Philo, describe them as religious separatists, having a strict code of ceremonial observances much more rigid than the ordinary ceremonies of Judaism. They also were celibate and lived in communities holding all things in common. The requirements for membership were most rigid, requiring long periods of fasting and discipline. There is no probability that Jesus Christ was an Essene, but it has been advanced that John the Baptist was of a type which would be acceptable.

East Liverpool Review Offers a Booklet On Canned Foods

What do you know about salads and salad making? Canned foods lend themselves so readily to successful salad making that every housekeeper should endeavor to have in reserve a small stock of the fish, fruits, and vegetables which are most popular for this form of cookery, for the emergencies which arise in even the most perfectly managed households.

With a bottle or two of prepared salad dressing in addition she may in the twinkling of an eye add a salad course to her menu.

But to do this she will need the recipe booklet on canned foods which this bureau has for distribution.

NEW YORK Day By Day

By O. O. McIntyre.

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—Thoughts while strolling: Whatever became of the old-fashioned New York? The ladies who eat at Schrafft's alone. Taxi drivers with change slots like street car conductors wear. Actors with those rakish Fedoras. Aberdeen dogs resembling tired old men.

The sepulchral noises from subway gratings. Russell Patterson, the illustrator. The blundering of quick photo shops. Children sidewalk hopping to keep warm. Those apple cheeks youths who gaze upward in Times Square, looking scared and confused.

Murmuring voices. Drifting shapes. Ancient notion stores refusing stubbornly to vanish. Buttons, hooks and eyes, garter rubber, hair pins, cheese-cloth—and withered old saleswomen in black aprons. Women in auto back seats who seem always ready to jump out.

An old woman with one tooth eating an apple. Surely fascinating to watch. White whines who smoke pipes upside down. Pastry windows with green and pink icing. And snarls of frosting. The hearty bluster of newspaper wagon drivers. A barber pole with a music box attachment.

A crash, shower of broken glass and a policeman's whistle. No one hurt, but a lot of cursing. Waddling ladies with bulging eyes in huge pink coats. The Ernie, Doodles and Jackie with their brittle Broadway talk. How's tricks? So so. Gimme a cigarette. Pipe the Jane with the neat ankles! Thanks for the spinach!

The old acrobat in a wheel chair. Once jumped three camels in a row. But one night he missed. Al Preuh, the caricaturist—a Lima, O. boy who made good in the city. Dandelion's high art salon decorated with gaudy signs. Key makers. Hat cleaners. And shoe repairers.

How curious the clasp clasp of a horse on New York streets; Major Bowes—Margaret Anglin's husband. Whatever became of Ferdinand Pinney Earle and that affinity business? The first rush homeward. The cloud gray haze before dusk. And a red sky at evening.

Right Angles

By Alexander Cairns.

You are hereby cordially invited to attend an open forum in Blarney Castle, the home of "Right Angles," on the first gala night that the moon and stars outshine each other.

The theme for discussion and mutilation will be "Considerate Courtesy." And the all-star company of speakers will include such illustrious names as:

Sir Walter Raleigh, official bower and scraper to Good Queen Bess; Sir Phillip Sidney, also train bearer of Elizabeth and knight of the chivalrous tongue; and Lord Chesterfield, whose manners were polished with silver polish and a chamomel, whose diction was manicured to the quick and who was the Gentleman of the Bedchamber to the Prince of Wales when George I. led the Grand March in Buckingham Palace; and Beau Brummel, he of the Eton and Oxford culture, who standardized the bon mots, boutonnieres and habiliments of the exclusive world.

We append herewith the advance sheets covering the highlights of the proposed discussion. This will enable you to circumnavigate the topic and bring with you a quiverful of the arrows of controversy.

Sir Walter Raleigh—any boy of the Bowery or girl of the Ghetto knows full well that to be considerate is the criterion of a gentleman or gentlewoman. When I spread my reffer for the steps of the Queen, the indifferent deed was immortalized because it was the alpha and the omega of consideration.

Sir Phillip Sidney—Every court, from the Grand Monarch of France to that of his Excellency of the White House, will corroborate my word that manners count more than mind or money in elevating men to knight-hood and the peerage, and he who is considerate is a resume of good manners.

Lord Chesterfield—My letters to my son, now appearing in my syndicated column in the latest tabloid sheets, have consideration as their center, circumference and radius. Of this clothes and speech and demeanor are but expressions to tingle the ear and sparkle the eyes.

Beau Brummel—I became the fashion plate for the drawing room in speech and raiment by having the motto, "Be Considerate," done in Corregio oils and hung in affluent frame in every book of my mind and heart. Hence I am still regnant when American gold buys English titles, or Halls of Mirrors reflect countenances of the elite.

With this advance information we trust our every guest will come with enough bottled and canned comment to talk the house into a siesta.

Our Good Neighbor, Canada. There is no better argument for the principle of peace by mutual agreement than that afforded by the long-sustained friendly relations of Canada and the United States for each other. Representatives of two types of government, the one a republic, the other a limited monarchy, for more than a century these nations have been upon the utmost of good terms with each other, working for the common prosperity of their people. Either would resent the intrusion of any issue which might convert this harmony into the shadow of enmity. Old world nations that are groping for a method that will bring them into continued good standing with each other might find the example of these Canadian-American relations a source of inspiration to protect their own welfare in all the years to come.—Akron Beacon Journal.

Shall Submarine Be Abolished? Prohibition of the use of submarines in warfare by agreement among nations has been a definite objective in international affairs since Germany used the weapon ruthlessly for the destruction of merchant shipping carrying cargoes to the ports of her enemies. "Unrestricted submarine warfare," "spiral warfare" and similar phrases are outstanding among our memories of the war. Above everything else the ruthless submarine campaign of the Germans was responsible for the entry of the United States into the conflict.—Philadelphia Enquirer.

A New Jersey girl has asked a radio station to broadcast more waltzes, stating that they make her boy friend more sentimental. Well! Who ever imagined radio as an aide to cupid.—Marion Star.

YOUR HEALTH

An Ounce of Prevention Is Worth A Pound of Cure.

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland.

My mail is filled with letters from persons who suffer from arthritis. They are eager to learn what can be done to relieve their sufferings.

This trouble is sometimes called "rheumatoid arthritis." It is an inflammation of the joints, producing stiffness and pain like rheumatism.

Women between the ages of twenty and forty-five are most commonly the ones to be afflicted. Of course it can come at any age, and men, as well as women are attacked by it.

The other day I talked with an eminent physician of one of the clinical staff of a famous hospital. It so happened that a reader of this column had been accomplished in that institute for the relief of her husband. She was so enthusiastic that I, too, was keen to be told the details of the treatment employed there for cases of arthritis.

If you or yours is the victim of arthritis this report will be of interest. It sums up the present methods of treatment.

My friend told me that in handling these patients three things are kept in mind. They are the medical, the physical and the educational aspects of the problem.

On the medical side, careful attention is given to the discovery of a possible focus of infection. The teeth, tonsils and nasal sinuses are carefully examined. The prostate gland in men and the neck of the womb in women, may be the seat of infection. In every case the gall bladder is studied to see if it is the offending organ. Constipation is corrected.

A great deal of attention has been given in very recent years to the effects of "foreign proteins" upon the system. Various serums have been employed with a view to exciting reaction in the inflamed tissues. This first effect may be followed by lessening of the localized inflammation. Your doctor will tell you about it.

The particular substances used for this purpose in the clinic, to which

I have referred, is the typhoid vaccine. This is harmless enough, surely, and my friend says its use is frequently followed by remarkable improvement.

On the physical side, baking, massage and exercise are applied to the affected joints. Their value will be appreciated by everybody.

The third part of the treatment, the educational feature, is extremely interesting. The patient is taught that the unwillingness to keep their painful joints in motion has much to do with the stiffness and ultimate locking of the joints. The crippling follows long-time refusal to use the affected joint.

When patients know that others with the same painful disease have been materially benefited by these simple methods, they are encouraged to carry out instructions. Your home doctor can do all these things for you.

Go to him for a frank talk and if he thinks they are suitable in your case, see if you cannot settle down to systematic use of these methods. They have been of material benefit to others, perhaps they will prove to be exactly what you need.

Answers to Health Queries.

R. H. Q.—What can I do for indigestion?

2—I have never been vaccinated. Do you advise vaccination?

A.—Correct your diet and keep the intestinal tract clear. For full details send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

2.—Yes.

A. T. Q.—What should a boy of nearly eighteen 5 ft. 10½ in. tall weigh? How can I put on weight?

A.—He should weigh about 150 pounds. Building up the health in general should also help to increase your weight. For full particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

STRAND OFFERS WESTERN DRAMA

A rip-roaring Western drama that will thrill all lovers of action stories is promised to the audience of the Strand theatre, where "His Last Bullet," Al Hoxie's latest photoplay, will be the feature attraction for two days, beginning today. Sunflash, Hoxie's famous mount, whom many consider the screen's greatest equine performer, will play his usual prominent part in the drama.

Director B. Frank Wilson, one of the outstanding producers of the Western dramas, has chosen a splendid cast for the supporting role. Ethel Thompson, a genuine beauty of rare talent has been cast for the leading feminine role, a part which calls for unusual versatility and a daring that is rare in women. Ben Wilson, Jr., whose famous father has been a great favorite for many years, will be seen as Hoxie's brother, a difficult and highly dramatic characterization.

Among the other popular players who are noted for their many sterling performances in Western photoplays are Houston Ellis, Slim Pareda, two much hated villains, and Jed Thompson. Robert Dillon is the author of "The Last Bullet," which was written especially for the star.

The story, which concerns the efforts of Tom Randall, a prospector, to avenge the death of his brother at the hands of a notorious band of outlaws, is said to be replete with the type of thrilling action which has

ONE-ROUND HOGAN AT AMERICAN

Monte Blue, heavyweight champion of the screen, offers Warner Bros. production of "One Round Hogan" as his latest contribution to the world's library of fictive films. It comes to the American theatre today for a run of two days.

Monte has remained undisputed champion since almost two years ago when as Hogan in "Hogan's Alley," he won the plaudits of movie fans all over the world.

In "One Round Hogan" he portrays the son of a champion father played by James J. Jeffries, former heavyweight champion of the world, who also appeared in "Hogan's Alley."

Others in the cast are Leila Hyams, Frank Hagney, Tom Galley, Abdul the Turk and the Texas Kid.

Savings deposits in one bank at Edinburgh, Scotland, increased nearly $2,500,000 in the past year, and seven-tenths of the accounts were less than $25.

Ritzy Rosey

It might cause a great deal of eye-strain to see what is dangling from Ritzy Rosey's wrist, so we'll tell you it is a replica of her ear-front view—and done in brilliant stones. A very smart fad for those far beyond the flapper class.

No More Mistakes

Nobody'll have any excuse for getting into the wrong berth on the San Francisco Overland Limited from now on. The system has just put in radium numbers showing the location of the sleeping quarters when the lights are dimmed. Helen Holzman is the lady in the photo. (International Newsweek)

Makes Body Transparent. That he has invented a method by which the human body can be made as transparent as glass is claimed by Dr. Tours, a French doctor. He says that by this new device the organs of the body can be seen working as if in a mirror. Some experts declare that the invention surpasses X-rays in value and that it will revolutionize the practice of both medicine and surgery. Dr. Tours has announced that he intends to reveal the secrets of his discovery shortly.

London Deserts Eton Crop.
Women of London are deserting the Eton crop, the popular style of head-dress since the early days of the bob. All the ultra phases of the style have gone, and the number of the more conservative conceptions are disappearing.

The rumored reason for the change—men are paying more attention to girls who have long tresses.
Street cars of aluminum and weighing one fourth less than those of steel, have been perfected.

UNION REVIVAL
IN EAST END
CLOSES SUNDAY

Evening Services to be Held in Second
U. P. Church.

MEETING TONIGHT

Three Congregations
Will Conduct Morning Devotions.

Union revival campaign of the Second United Presbyterian, Second Presbyterian and Pennsylvania Avenue Methodist Episcopal churches, which has been in progress for more than six weeks, will close in the former church Sunday evening. The three co-operating congregations will conduct their own morning services but will unite for the evening meeting.

Last of the cottage prayer services, which have been a daily feature, were held this morning. More than 100 women were assembled for these services which were held in six districts.

Rev. E. C. McCown, D. D., pastor of the South Hills United Presbyterian church, Pittsburgh, will preach to-night. There will be no Saturday night service. Men of the three churches who have organized for personal work will continue to function after the close of the revivals, it was announced.

Dr. W. O. Hawkins, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, preached at the Thursday night service, using the theme, "Dealing With Christ." He said in part:

"We cannot shift the responsibility onto some one else. Pilate tried that and failed. He failed because he tried to deal with Jesus as a man and that is where infidelity always fails.

"To say Christ is a great man and a good man and at the same time to say he is not the Son of God when he definitely claimed to be, is inexcusable inconsistency.

"He failed because he let others settle the question for him, and because he allowed himself to be swayed by the mob mind and spirit rather than to settle the matter for himself. He had knowledge, but he had not courage. He could preach to others, but he could not punctuate his preaching by personal practice.

"He failed because he resorted to expediency. He failed because he tried to deal with Christ as something less than king of heaven and earth, of time and eternity, of men and nations. Pilate put above Him on the cross 'This is the King of the Jews.' If he had written over his own judgment, 'This is the king of the truth,' instead of trying to hide his hesitating weakness under the smoke of the burning question, 'What is truth?' his name would not be so shadowed with shame to this very day.

"If each one would do the best he knows with the Christ, the Christ would take care of the salvation and life of that one. He is King. There is no middle ground. 'Bring forth the royal diadem, and crown him Lord of all.'"

Trans-Russia Sleepers Now.

Sleeping car service has been finally established on the Russian trans-continental railroad as the result of an agreement just made between the Russian railroads and the Wagon-Lits Co. Tickets covering both railway and sleeping-car accommodations across the Russian continent may be purchased at the Paris office of the Wagon-Lits Co. In purchasing through tickets, however, it is necessary to allow five days to enable the company to telegraph to Moscow for the current charges on Russian railways. These charges fluctuate so frequently that it is not possible to deliver the ticket without previously telegraphing for confirmation.

A New, Safe Prescription

A famous physician's prescription called Thoxine relieves the most stubborn coughs that otherwise might hang on for weeks. Acts on new theory, relieves the inflammation and irritation which is always the cause of the cough—stops it like magic. Thoxine is equally good for sore throat, for which purpose it is far superior to gargles. Contains no dope, chloroform or other harmful drugs. Once used you will never be without it. Pleasant tasting, easy to take and safe for the whole family. Remember one swallow stops night coughs or sore throat within 15 minutes or money back. 35c, 60c and $1.00. At all druggists.

Holdup Case in Bad Mixup.
Meeting of Justice in connection with a holdup in Buenos Aires, Argentina, is taking a course that is believed to be unprecedented in the world. Senor Porfiro Callado, charged with complicity in the holdup of pay checks of a sugar refinery, started a new suit in civil court seeking to have Dr. Araganaras, the judge trying his case in criminal court, declared to be of unsound mind and not responsible for his actions. The civil judge threw out the case on the ground that the necessary medical certificate and other proofs were lacking. Then Dr.

Araganaras discovered that he is not on speaking terms with the defendant and excused himself from further proceedings.

Shakespeare for Egypt.

Cairo is to have a three-weeks season of Shakespeare in English. The Egyptian government is financing the project, and the company of 30 will include many well known English actors, headed by Robert Atkins, of Old Vic fame. The plays will be given at the Opera house.

MRS. JAMES S. McDONALD, AGED 58, DIES IN HOME NEAR HOOKSTOWN

Funeral Services Will be Held at 2 o'clock Tomorrow Afternoon in Mill Creek Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. James S. McDonald, 58, died yesterday in her home, one mile south of Hookstown, Pa., after a short illness of pneumonia.

Mrs. McDonald was a lifelong resident of the Hookstown district. She was a member of the Mill Creek Presbyterian church.

Besides her husband, she leaves the following children: Frank, Chester; David, Donald, Bruce, Mary and Gladys, at home, and Mrs. Mollie Johnston, Industry, and Mrs. Mildred Kennedy, Carnot, Pa. She is also survived by one brother, W. H. McClurg, Hookstown, and one sister, Mrs. J. C. Shane, Beaver, Pa.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the Mill Creek Presbyterian church, in charge of Rev. D. C. Schnabley, New Castle, Pa., and Rev. Paul Hazlett, pastor of the Mill Creek church. Burial will be made in Mill Creek cemetery.

THREE FILE FOR SCHOOL BOARD

Elmer Allison and James L. Paisley filed as candidates last night for the three-year term on the board of education. They seek the post now held by E. Y. Miller.

Harry L. Oyster has announced his candidacy for the unexpired term of H. B. Bondurant.

Election will be held on Thursday, March 8.

NEW MINISTER HERE APRIL 1

Rev. Ray N. Davis, of Mountsville, who recently accepted a call to the pastorate of the First United Presbyterian church, will take up his duties on April 1.

There will be no preaching services in the church Sunday. Young People's meeting will be held at 6:30.

CITIZENS O. K. EARL MILBY

Republican Nominee for Mayor Given Indorsement.

Earl Milby, Republican nominee, was endorsed for mayor last night at a caucus of the Citizens' party presided over by H. B. Lynch. Like action was taken on the candidacies of A. Earl Wilson, for city clerk, and D. R. Linger, J. H. Hobbs and James F. Hocking, Republican candidates for council.

Elmer Conley, Independent candidate, was endorsed for council in the Third ward, while D. S. Craig was named to oppose Roy Bartley, Republican, and Virgil Welch, Independent, in the Fourth ward.

Candidates for municipal office have until midnight tonight to file their petitions.

JACKSON HELD FOR GRAND JURY

Robert Jackson, colored, of Brooke county, was ordered held for the March term grand jury of the circuit court on Thursday following a hearing before Justice A. B. Collett. Jackson is charged with felonious cutting with intent to kill Charles Martin, a negro coal miner of McKinleyville.

The assault upon Martin, to which Jackson is alleged to have confessed to Prosecuting Attorney James R. Wilkin, at the hearing this morning, took place at McKinleyville, early on Saturday morning last, following an altercation which began in a poker game.

The Board of Education of the Chester Independent School District hereby gives notice that two members for the School Board will be elected on Election day, March 8th, 1928. One to fill the unexpired term of H. B. Bondurant, resigned, and the other to take the place of E. Y. Miller whose term expires June 30th, 1928. Candidates must file their application with the secretary ten days before the election.

HARRY S. HORBS, Secretary.

English Women Defended.

English women are greatly agitated over the charge made by a prominent Frenchman that women are being deformed by English sports and games. The critic had been studying the fashionable French dressmakers' catalogs with their drawings of peculiar creatures with hollow chests, curved figures, sharp shoulder blades and crooked legs. They shocked him, he said, and he added that as these drawings were used by English dressmakers as a general fashion guide the English girls must be like them. Englishmen have replied that the pictures were not those of the real woman athlete and gymnast, and they resent the liberty taken by French fashion artists in displaying them.

For the first time in 65 years wild cats were seen in the vicinity of Edinburgh Scotland, recently, two being captured and sent to the zoo.

IF BACK HURTS FLUSH KIDNEYS

Drink Plenty Water and Take Glass of Salts Before Breakfast Occasionally.

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which helps to remove the body's urinous waste and stimulate them to their normal activity.

The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of good water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts. Take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they are no longer a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this; also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.

Lengel Will Ask Directed Verdict of "NOT GUILTY"

STATE SUFFERS HARD BLOW IN 'STREITY' STAND

Former Detective, Prosecution "Ace," is Silent.

"DEAL" IS HINTED

Convicted Conspirator in Mellett Death is Defiant.

LISBON, Feb. 17.—The defense in the second trial of S. A. Lengel, former Canton police chief, charged with first degree murder in the death of Don R. Mellett, crusading Canton newspaper publisher in July, 1926, is expected to file a motion for a directed verdict of "not guilty" as soon as the state rests its case, probably on Monday.

This was indicated today, as a result of the blow suffered by the state yesterday afternoon, when Floyd E. Streitenberger, former Canton detective and now serving a life sentence for complicity in the Mellett assassination, refused to testify.

"Streity," state ace in the first trial, in which Lengel was convicted, defied Prosecutor Henry W. Harter, Jr., of Stark county, when he was called to the stand. "I refuse to answer," he said as each question was asked.

Witness Defiant.

From the very first question Streitenberger proved to be an unwilling witness. In reply to preliminary questions by Prosecutor Harter, the witness repeated the words, "I do not care to discuss that."

After several unsuccessful attempts to examine "Streity" the prosecutor asked the court to admonish the witness to answer.

Judge Lones then explained that the witness was under oath and should answer questions. This advice on the part of the court had no effect on the witness.

It was a highly dramatic moment when the lanky "lifer" took the stand. For several minutes, the witness kept his eyes on Lengel and the stare was returned by the defendant as he sat at the defense counsel table.

Harter asked Streitenberger if he and the witness did not have a talk at the county jail at Canton Wednesday night.

"In that conversation, didn't you tell me that you would refuse to testify unless you could make some deal?" "I refuse to answer that question," Streitenberger replied.

"Does that mean that you refuse to testify?"

"It does," was the reply.

Reads from Record.

Resorting to the last means at his command, Harter started to read from the record of Streitenberger's testimony in the first trial.

This brought a strenuous objection from the defense on the ground that the state has no right to cross-examine its own witness.

Harter insisted that Streitenberger had assumed the role of a hostile witness and therefore is subject to cross-examination.

"Don you refuse to answer because you are afraid of incriminating yourself?" the court asked.

"No, sir," he replied.

"Is there any reason for your conduct?"

"I probably have one, but I will refuse to answer that too."

Streitenberger, by refusing to answer, threw himself open to a contempt of court citation, but that means nothing to a man who is serving a life sentence.

Harter Hints "Deal" Move.

After the jury had been excused, attorneys in the case gathered around Judge Lones' bench and a heated argument ensued over the admissibility of the former trial record as evidence.

Judge Lones finally permitted it to go to the jury over the objection of the defense counsel, but he admonished the jurors not to consider it as evidence unless the state, by some other testimony, was successful in making it competent.

To the jury Judge Lones said, "You are not to consider these questions and answers as evidence until you should be instructed to do so."

The state's entire case, in the other trial, hinged on Streitenberger as the pivotal witness to make the connection between the defendant and members of the murder plot.

Just exactly what happened at the county jail at Canton Wednesday night remains a closed record so far. Harter says that Streitenberger proposed a deal in return for his testimony and that he (Harter) absolutely refused to enter any such negotiation. Streitenberger denied this.

Call Other Witnesses.

One of the questions put to Streitenberger by Harter was "Isn't it true that two weeks after the murder, you went to Lengel and wanted to make a clean breast of it, and he told you not to?"

The witness refused to answer.

The immediate problem confronting the state is a means of getting Streitenberger's testimony at the former trial before the jury.

Harter and McClintock are confident that they will be able to do this. They intend to call Beatrice Wittman, Flora Fitzner and Florence Travis, court stenographers, who will be required to bring their original notes so that the testimony can be read.

The defense, of course, will vigorously contest every state move tending to make this evidence competent.

At the request of both sides, Judge Lones ordered Streitenberger kept here for additional examination and cross-examination.

Thursday Session.

There will be no session of the trial Saturday, Judge Lones announced.

SHOT KILLS BOY; IS FINED $500

RICHMOND, Ky., Feb. 17.—Found guilty of involuntary manslaughter, Prof. B. F. Gabby, former teacher at Madison high school, today was under a fine of $500 imposed by the circuit court.

Gabby, it was charged, had accidentally shot and killed Charles Minter, during a football game. Gabby, acting as timekeeper, it was said, borrowed a patrolman's gun and fired to mark the end of the half. The bullet struck the boy.

Civil action for $15,000 filed by the boy's mother, is pending against the teacher.

Harter said late today that he did not believe the state will rest before Monday. There are still several witnesses to be called.

A court room packed almost to the last square foot of available space furnished the setting for the afternoon session Thursday.

With the approval of Judge Lones, all previously made plans regarding attendance were withdrawn and the crowd was permitted to take possession of the room. Many spectators remained in the court room during the noon recess.

Just before leaving the stand William Betzler testified that on the night of the murder, Pat McDermott refused to drink any liquor, giving as his reason that he "had a big job on." On cross-examination he admitted that he had posted a claim for a share of the reward, but denied that McClintock represented him in that claim. "I did not know how to file it, so I asked McClintock about it," he said.

Frank Slagle, Canton druggist, testified that he saw Steve Kaschak and another man at his store on the night designated by Kaschak as the time of the trip past the Mellett home.

Vere Van Gunten, caretaker at the rooming house where Pat stayed, corroborated Kaschak as to Pat's occupancy of the room just before the night of July 15. He said Pat was going by the name of Charles Thompson, and that he left after receiving a telegram. Similar testimony was given by John Van Altham, a resident of the house at the same time.

Just a few hours before Don R. Mellett was shot down at the door of his garage, S. A. Lengel had a conference with Ben Rudner, one of the alleged conspirators, at the police station, according to testimony given by J. A. McDonald, a member of the department, who was on duty at the time.

This was the first direct connection of the defendant's name with that of one of the men named as conspirators in the plot against the newspaper editor.

The witness said that Rudner and Lengel talked together, but that he could not hear what they said. While the conversation was going on, McDonald said, he answered a call and when he returned they were still there.

They talked in an ordinary tone of voices which he could have overheard had he listened attentively.

Chief of Police Earl W. Hexamer, former safety director, gave testimony to the effect that on the morning of July 16, he talked to Lengel and that he asked the chief what clues if any had been obtained as to the identity of the slayers. "The chief said he thought it was the work of Blackhands," and mentioned a name," the witness said.

On the day of the murder Lengel ordered that the weeds on a vacant lot across the street from the Mellett garage to be cut, Fred Graub, who was in charge of the gang of weed cutters, testified. On cross examination, the witness admitted that his instructions were to cut the weeds and look for clues and that he carried out his instructions to the letter.

There is a possibility in the event that a motion for a directed verdict should be denied. The defense is said to have much testimony, some of it of a sensational nature.

find for his Potsdam regiment, Frederick collected victories, to flatter one kind of vanity, and collected great men, like Voltaire, about him, to flatter his intellectual vanity. Thousands of Americans collect "antiques," thus promoting an active modern industry—only the few choose with knowledge.

LIKE all human passions, however, collecting is necessary. The beaver and ant, unlike the trade rat, collect usefully. Some men collect knowledge, statistics, others fine works of art that inspire later generations to good work.

Even the collectors of dollars are useful, building up vast industrial and commercial units, creating a foundation for future higher civilization. They build in the dark, not understanding their work, like the tiny coral-building creatures that laid foundations for the beautiful South Sea Islands.

EDISON, celebrating his eighty-first birthday, with Firestone, the tire man, for company, said, "the country needs Hoover for president. He is a real executive, a great engineer. Engineers are what we need, they build the country."

Edison's friends, Firestone and Henry Ford, are for Hoover. The three men among the leaders of a nation of engineers, industrialists and scientists naturally favor one of their kind.

In advocating the choice of Herbert Hoover they support a man who has proved that he understands this country's problems, which are problems of industry, engineering and common sense.

ONE of our admirals, supposed to have called Lindbergh's achievements "ninety-five per cent luck," says he was misunderstood. Lindbergh's "luck" was like that of Captain Paul Jones, and General Grant—a mixture of perseverance and brilliant courage.

THERE is reason to believe, unfortunately, that some of the navy men, very comfortable on big battleships and afraid to fly, belittle real flying systematically, and discourage government aviation. For Uncle Sam, that is

MAN TRAPPED AS 50-YEAR-OLD HOUSES FALL

New York Worker Buried Under Debris in Subway Cut.

1 DEAD, 1 INJURED

Searchers Admit Little Hope as They Dig in Ruins.

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—Somewhere under tons of brick, flaked mortar and twisted beams that for half a century had been three houses in Eighth avenue above Fifty-second street, a subway worker was held prisoner today while scores of fellow employees and city firemen labored feverishly to reach him.

The victim is Peterson Carroll, a carpenter. He was trapped with two others when the ancient dwellings tumbled into a cut of the new subway in Eighth avenue.

Jack Flynn was killed by the avalanche of bricks, and his brother, Frank, was seriously injured when he attempted to aid the buried men.

Searchers admit there is little hope of rescuing Carroll alive, yet they probed the ruins through the night, throwing wreckage aside, with the aid of sputtering torches.

Engineers made an investigation and concluded that the accident was unavoidable. They said it was due to the shifting of natural rock in a manner which could not be foreseen.

Lengel Lawyers Clash

German navy, was introduced to Lengel by Ben Rudner in the latter's hardware store, according to his testimony.

He also saw the defendant another time, he said, in the same place during that week. He also was introduced to Pat McDermott by Rudner, he testified.

It was brought out on cross examination by Attorney F. Rollin Hahn, that Brumme, when he testified at the McDermott trial, gave the time of the Lengel visit as sometime in June. Today he testified it was in July.

The witness explained the variance by saying that when he so testified he did not know the date of the murder.

It was also brought out under cross examination that in the McDermott trial Brumme did not say anything about seeing McDermott in Rudner's store. He said he was not asked that question.

Laura Hardy, in charge of police signals on the night of the murder, was called to relate what she did that night.

She testified that on that particular night after she had heard about the murder she flashed all the signals for 22 minutes and received a response from only one policeman. She testified she failed to locate the sergeant who was in charge of the night shift.

Miss Travis, court stenographer who took the testimony of Streitenberger during the first Lengel trial at Canton, was next placed on the stand by the state for the purpose of reading from her official notes testimony given by Streitenberger.

This proved to be the opening wedge on the part of the defense to begin argument on the motion to exclude from the record any testimony of Streitenberger who is now serving a life sentence in the penitentiary.

Court Admonishes Jury.

The court, assuming that argument would be lengthy, admonished the jury as has been the usual custom during a recess period, and ordered it to into courtroom No. 2 at the noon recess.

Special Prosecutor C. B. McClintock, in his opening argument, said: "We believe that we have ample authority as to the competence of this testimony."

"Streitenberger comes here, refuses to testify, and the state is taken by surprise. He has proved to be a hostile witness. The state is not responsible for this situation. At the other trial this man testified and some of the same counsel here today were in that case. We believe that we are entitled to have that testimony."

"This man says he did not claim his privilege when he refused to answer questions when he was placed on the witness stand Thursday afternoon. If he were dead, insane, or out of the jurisdiction of the court, under the authorities, we would be entitled to his testimony. Why should we be denied that testimony when we bring the witness here and propound the questions to him and he refuses to answer?"

"It seems to me it would be a travesty on justice if we should be deprived of that evidence."

Attorney Hahn, of defense counsel, followed McClintock and, in part, said:

"Mr. McClintock did not refer at all to the settled law of this state applicable to this situation."

"Under the law, as settled by the supreme court, such testimony is not admissible unless it can be proved that the refusal of the witness to testify was due to connivance on the part of the defendant."

"The state, of course, does not charge that we did anything to prevent this witness from testifying. Therefore, under the established law, this testimony is incompetent."

Judge P. W. Barnum, of counsel for defense, contended that even if the evidence should be admitted, it would be for the purpose, not of establishing the facts of which the witness speaks, but rather for the purpose of impeachment.

Judge Lones probably will not announce his ruling until the state rests its case which may be during the afternoon.

"POWER TRUST" QUIZ NEXT WEEK

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—A thorough investigation of the "power trust," as ordered by the senate, was promised today by the federal trade commission.

All hearings will be open. The commission adopted a resolution declaring it would "follow the letter and spirit" of the senate order calling for the inquiry.

The investigation will get under way next week.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—The irregular tone continued in the stock market in early trading today. The $15,000,000 decline in brokers' borrowing was considerably below Wall Street's expectations, and the preliminary estimate of General Motors' 1927 net earnings was no surprise to the financial district. Pennsylvania Railroad made an excellent showing in its 1927 report, and car loadings for the first week in February made a good gain over January's best efforts.

General Motors made up its $125 quarterly dividend at the opening of the market, but stock was freely offered around 136 and the stock could make no further gain. The balance of the motor group was inactive and dull, making little response to the 70 per cent increase in car truck production in January, as compared with the final month of 1927.

Studebaker, Hupp and Hudson declined fractionally on moderate offerings.

Vanadium featured the independent steels, with a new advance to above 88. Bethlehem and Republic were well bought around current prices, and Colorado Fuel and Iron fractionally.

Freeport Texas was forced down to a new low at 72, and others of the pool specialties were under fire in this period.

Oppose Mine Day

parents were unable to contribute. He suggested that if some arrangement could be made whereby these donations could be collected at a place other than the school, the objection might be overcome.

He offered the suggestion that teachers discuss the need for relief before their classes and that the parents be urged to send donations to a receiving station but no action was taken on the proposal.

Hull explained that the campaign would cultivate the spirit of benevolence among the school children and that contributions would be accepted, no matter how small.

Louis Maurer, Mt. Pleasant coal miner, whose father has been an invalid for 29 years as the result of a mine accident, told of the needs for relief in his home district where miners have worked but nine months out of 39 months.

Fred O. Glenn, chairman of the board, reported that he had been informed by Rev. A. H. O'Brien, chairman of the Red Cross chapter, that the needs for relief in the West Point mining district had been met for the present and that the Red Cross campaign for the miners' relief here had been closed.

Miss Esther C. Neal, school nurse, who attended the board's meeting to discuss nursing activities, asserted that the demands for relief among school children were especially heavy. She said that so far this year, a lodge, working through the schools, had furnished 40 pairs of shoes to school children. Clothing, she said, had been distributed in dozens of cases. She declared that many children were undernourished.

The nurse said that there were at least 60 children in the West End, Central, Gardendale, Horace Mann and Glenmoor schools who were in actual want, lacking both food and clothing. The committee "disputed" on a part of this report made by Miss Neal before their request was formally made.

Despite the action of the board of education, the labor organization representatives plan a general campaign for the relief of the miners. Subscription papers will be circulated among pottery and other trade workers while an appeal for clothing will be made at the same time.

Store Donations.

Rev. O'Brien stated today that any donations of food or clothing which are now sent in will be stored and distributed in East Liverpool as the calls for help are received. Money which has been collected at the First National Bank will be spent for food which will be turned over to the west Point miners' relief committee.

Red Cross officials from Youngstown and a representative of the Ohio National Guard, who are receiving donations for the miners, were in the West Point district this week, where they made a survey for relief needs. Rev. O'Brien said. He asserted that they had reported to the local Red Cross representatives that clothing needs had been well supplied and there was no immediate requirement of food.

SILVER-HAIRED JIM REED ON WESTERN SWING

Fiery Missourian Dons His Battle Habitments.

SEEKS DELEGATES

Senator Will Make Dozen Speeches in Eight States.

By George R. Holmes.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—Senator A. Reed of Missouri, the silver-haired and silver-tongued veteran of four decades of savage political fighting, put on his battle habiliments again today and headed westward on a trip that may have an extremely important bearing on the events that are to happen in Houston next June.

The fiery Missourian is going to make a dozen speeches scattered through eight states, Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Colorado, New Mexico, Arizona, California and Utah. It is territory that, if not hostile to the nomination of Gov. Al Smith, is at least supposed to be very lukewarm to Tammany's candidate.

These states have a delegate strength in the Democratic convention of 138—not an imposing bloc in a convention of 1100 delegates, but one that might contribute mightily to the total of 367 votes that are necessary "to stop Smith" at Houston. When there is added to this bloc approximately 220 delegates from southern and anti-Smith border states, and the 36 from his own Missouri, the total is well over one-third of the Houston convention, and the reason for Senator Reed's carefully considered itinerary becomes readily apparent.

DISMISS JURY IN HILL CASE

OTTAWA, Ill., Feb. 17.—Sixty-nine hours of hopeless wrangling, arguments and fruitless appeals to one juror who held out on his convictions that Harry Hill of Streator, Ill., was innocent of the murder of his mother, ended here shortly after 11 a. m. today when Judge Joseph A. Davis formally dismissed the jury in the presence of the youthful alleged slayer.

Judge Davis intimated that he would call a new trial in a few weeks as soon as his docket is cleared.

Vocalists and Instrumentalists Assist in Program Here.

MIDLAND, Pa., Feb. 17.—"Soul of the American Indian" was pictured and explained to an audience of 200 school patrons in Lincoln high auditorium last night by Miss Grace C. Kramer, faculty member, who was presented in an interpretative recital by the Lincoln Girls' club.

For an hour and a half, Miss Kramer related a story formed of songs, verses and myths, running the entire gamut of the Indian's life, and in the second part of the recital depicted the simplicity of his religion and philosophy.

Miss Kramer was assisted by Miss Helen E. Kleinfelter, contralto; Andrew B. Calhoun, violinist; Donald A. Wilson, flutist; and Miss Elizabeth Bates, pianist. The musicians gave renditions of many of the songs used by Miss Kramer in her recital.

Sleep Works Magic

"I used Wheeler's Nerve-Vita-Lixer with great results," writes Mrs. Susan Banks Belsimore, Md. "I couldn't sleep more than one or two hours during night. Now I sleep the whole night through. Feel like a new person. Best medicinal ever took for nerves and I have tried most everything."

One good night's sleep does wonders for run-down people. But don't take dope. Wheeler's Nerve-Vita-Lixer is a dopamine, safe treatment. Contains nothing harmful or habit forming. Sold at drug stores at $1.00 a bottle, but if you send name, address and 10 cents for packing to J. W. Brant Co., Dept. 64, Albion, Mich., you will receive large sample bottle free. Try it!

Rely on Ruth

[every day in the month!]

Business girls who let menstrual periods interfere with duty have not learned of Midol. This remarkable preparation neither hinders nor hastens the natural process of menstruation, but it does stop the pain.

Midol is not a narcotic. It is just as safe as it is direct and certain. It is only common sense to use it. You have probably tried other things for menstrual pains, but so had the many thousands of women who today bless Midol. It brings complete ease in five to seven minutes. Or prevents pain even starting. If taken in time. Every drugstore has the trim little aluminum case of Midol to tuck in your purse, for fifty cents!

Knightsmen Capture Year's Series With Quaker Five

Down Damascus Here, 54 to 26, in Last of Four Games; Wilson Sets Scoring Pace With Eight Field Goals, Three Fouls.

Playing a brand of basketball that was simply too good for their opponents to cope with, the Elks sent Damascus down to defeat last night in a county league game here by the score of 54 to 26.

Last night's victory avenged the knights' defeat by the Quaker at Damascus Wednesday night and was the third victory over the north counties in four games this year.

Damascus was clearly outplayed and after the first few minutes the knights had little chance. Smith Anderson and company took the lead at the start, keeping always in front to the finish.

The first quarter was all Elks as far as scoring went the Antlers leading, 7 to 0, when the period was up. Wilson, Canne, and McConville popped in baskets for the locals, while Wilson came through with a penalty toss.

The Elks were too fast for the Quakers in the second period as well, although the visitors played better basketball than they did in the first. The Elks found the cords for 14 more points in this quarter, Wilson, Canne, Anderson and McKeever tossing in buckets, while Canne and McConville made good on foul line tosses. The Quakers broke into the scoring in this period, making ten points against the Elks' defense, most of them coming in the last five minutes of the period, the half ending 21 to 10 in favor of the Elks.

There was nothing to it but the Elks in the last two acts of the game. Although Damascus kept within halting distance during the first few minutes of the third period the Antlers got going again and before the quarter was up the Antlers had another game in the bag. The count then was 35 to 17.

The final act was only a repetition of the third the Antlers outscoring their rivals two to one.

All the Elks played real basketball and all contributed to the scoring. Wilson, hitting the cords for eight field goals and three foul goals, set the pace for the point makers.

Coy, Gilbert and Rickenbaugh were the leading performers for the Damascus five.

In the preliminary game the Laughlin Aces defeated the Wonders, 35 to 20. The Aces outplayed the Wonders most of the way, Jester and Stanley being the scoring aces for the Aces, while Woolley and Wucherer were the leading point makers for the Wonders.

Lutheran, M. P. Combines Cop League Games

Defeat Orchard Grove and Christian Quints.

Methodist Protestants defeated the Christians, 55 to 45, and the Lutherans won from the Orchard Grove Avenue, 62 to 27, in Sunday school league contests last night.

The M. P.-Christian tussle was fairly close all the way, the winners holding a four-point margin at the half when the count was 24 to 21.

Forward Staley of the M. P. five topped the scores with a total of 26 points from 12 field goals and a pair of fouls. Bailey dropped in 16 and Ankrim 11.

Lindell led the Christians with 17 points while Howard accounted for 12. The return of Howard to the Christian lineup helped the team considerably.

Forward Brown, of the Lutherans, scored almost half his team's 52 points himself. He sank 15 buckets for 30 points, while Mautz, his running mate, contributed 15 points.

Finland's Speed Skater Upholds Jaffee Protest
BERLIN, Feb. 17.—Clas Thunberg, Finland's premier speed skater, and twice winner in the winter olympics at St. Moritz, today defended America's protest against the cancellation of Irving Jaffee's time for the 10,000 meter race.

Interviewed here as he stopped off enroute to Oslo, Thunberg said: "The Americans' protest is absolutely justified. I believe Jaffee should have won—he made time that would have been difficult to better."

"The committee should never have begun the race, but once begun it was their duty to go through with it. I found the Americans extremely fair sportsmen," he said.

Penn Protests Dartmouth's 30-29 Victory
New York, Philly Scribes Say Score Should Have Been 30-30.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 17.—Although Dartmouth gained first place in the eastern intercollegiate basketball league by handing Penn a 30 to 29 defeat here last night, a dozen Philadelphia and New York newspapers assert that the true score of the game was 30 to 30. The newspapers signed affidavits that the university scorers overlooked a foul toss by Joe Schaaf, red and blue forward, thereby depriving Penn of a tie.

Penn protested the game and the matter was referred to league headquarters for settlement.

Even without the disputed point, Schaaf was high scorer with nine points.

Penn is now tied with Cornell for second place.

EASTERBROOK IS CHICAGO WINNER
CHICAGO, Feb. 17.—Teddy Easterbrook, the Ohio middleweight, was too clever and had too many guns for the less experienced Mike Rozgall of Omaha, in their ten round setto here last night.

Teddy got the nod at the end of ten fast rounds. Rozgall was a substitute for Howard Bentz of Milwaukee, who was unable to appear on account of an injured nose.

Jack McCarthy, Chicago welterweight, knocked out Billy Bortfield of Milwaukee in the fifth round of the semi-windup event.

Unsatisfactory results from exhibitions at fairs and expositions has caused the national association of shoe manufacturers of Germany to decide not to stage any exhibitions this year.

Hudkins is 2 to 1 Shot At Garden

Hope to Retain Junior Championship Crown.

By Davis J. Walsh.
NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—It was the Hatfield clan, I think, that spent all of its life, and that of many others, going about shooting at and being shot by somebody in one of those deathless mountain feuds. Then, again, it might have been the Tollivers or maybe it must have been two other guys but I don't know that it makes much difference because the Hudkins and the Bakers are going to have it again tonight and never a vendetta waged can quite approach this in politeness but ruthless savagery.

Ace Hudkins and Sammy Baker have been fighting almost on sight for upward a year. A trail of blood and gore has led away from the first two official meetings, one in New York and the other in Los Angeles, and really the next stop should be the Chicago stockyards.

But for some perverse and unaccountable reason, the boys are strictly against private fighting. They have their public to consider and so they have consented to appear in their third meeting at Madison Square Garden where the public can be considered in great quantities. It is scheduled to go ten rounds and the winner is reasonably certain to get the first shot at Joe Dundee's welterweight title.

The smart money says the winner will be Hudkins and this morning it expressed a willingness to lay as much as two dollars against one in support of this premise. The ace is supposed to be having trouble in making the specified weight of 147 pounds at two o'clock and it is a matter of record that this was the only time that Hudkins has failed his followers here and they will never forget the night he cashed those 4 to 1 bets of theirs on his knockout of Ruby Goldstein.

It further is realized that the Baker knockout was one of those technical things that can and do happen to the best and worst alike. Hudkins sustained a cut over one eye and it bled so profusely that the referee declined to be a party to further proceedings. Baker himself suffered a similar ignominy against Tommy Freeman some time ago.

Anyhow, the first time didn't prove it, so they met again in Los Angeles and although Hudkins out-bled his man, he also out-fought him and got the decision. They say Baker got so he didn't really care a great deal for Hudkins' body punching in this fight and it is this understanding, coupled with the general belief that Hudkins headed for the welterweight championship, that has made the Nebraska such a standpoint in the betting.

Even the Dundee camp seems to be looking for a Hudkins victory, for the champion is believed to have a tacit understanding with brother-manager, Art Hudkins, that will lead to a title fight outdoors in the event that the Ace wins tonight.

The house virtually is a sell out this morning and the receipts may touch $75,000.

WEAR IS NAMED DAVIS CUP HEAD
PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 17.—Joseph W. Wear, president of the Philadelphia Interclub Lawn Tennis association and a nationally known sportsman and athlete, will direct the destinies of America's Davis cup team this year. He was appointed chairman of the Davis cup committee, succeeding Julian S. Myrick, by President Samuel H. Collom of the United States Lawn Tennis association.

Wear and Jay Gould annexed the United States court tennis crown six times, and the national doubles racquet championship once. He captured the latter title on two other occasions, once while paired with Dwight F. Davis, now secretary of war.

HEATONS LAND SKELETON RACE
ST. MORITZ, Switzerland, Feb. 17.—Two brothers from New York, Jack and Jennico Heaton, took the first two places today in the olympic skeleton race over the Cresta run.

Jack Heaton took first place by making two descents in 60.2 seconds each and a third in 61.4 for a total of 181.8 seconds. His brother totalled 182.3 for his three runs.

Lord Northesk, of England, who holds the record for the course, was third with a total of 185.1 seconds. Lord Northesk's record, made last week, was for 63.4 seconds for one descent.

Nickel Plate Defeats B. & O. In Close Tilt

Win by 30-28 Score in Extra-period Game.

In a nip and tuck battle that went five minutes overtime to a decision, the Nickel Plates defeated the B. & O. last night in a Y. M. C. A. Senior league game, 30 to 22.

Four field goals in five minutes, which was making buckets faster than they had made them at any other time during the engagement, brought victory to the Nickel Plate cohorts in the extra period.

The league rivals played ball about as evenly, so far as scoring is concerned, as possible. The count was knotted at 9-9 at the end of the first quarter. In the second the Plates went into the lead, scoring five points to the B. & O.'s two, but in the third the latter recovered lost ground, scoring three points to even the figures again. And in the final stanza each squad chalked up eight points.

The Plates dropped in four field goals in quick order in the extra period while the B. & O. went scoreless.

Center Laughlin of the Plates led the scoring with 13 points. Swaney, center for the B. & O., dropped in nine.

MIDLAND, Pa., Feb. 17.—Merle Pierce defeated Luke Cadman, 75 to 63, in the billiard tourney in Pusey and Stoffel's parlors last night.

Last of the preliminary matches is scheduled for tonight when Frank Suffletta will meet Al Silverberg.

Mahoning County Quint Figured as Fast Squad

Hurstmen Also Face Stiff Battle at Dover Tomorrow Night; Tuscarawans Capture Seven Straight Games.

"The Campbells are coming"—but it's a basketball team this time and from all that Potter City court fans have learned about Campbell basketball, chiefly through last year's Tri-State tournament games, they can turn out good court performers in the little Mahoning county town as elsewhere.

The Campbell high school combine, hailing from Memorial High, and a new opponent for the Potters, will make their basketball debut before East Liverpool followers tonight, in the principal performance of a two-game card. The High School Reserves will tackle the Sigma Deltas of this city in the preliminary.

Tomorrow night the Hurstmen are billed in Dover and are expecting nothing easy.

Dover has won seven straight since the beginning of the second semester and has practically clinched the Tuscarawas county title.

They recently beat John Marshall, 58 to 30, and "among their souvenirs" in a basketball way, are the scalps of New Philadelphia, Uhrichsville, Wooster and Millersburg.

The Blue and White has been drilling away steadily this week. The East Palestine defeat has failed to discourage them and they expect to be in there tonight and tomorrow night for victories.

Buckeyes Off To Tri-State Cage Tourney
Favored by Fans in Renewal of Baker Vendetta.

Buckeyes basketball passers, Tri-State Juniors Champions for 1927, will go to Washington, Pa., today where they will compete in the Y. M. C. A. basketball tournament to be held today and tomorrow.

The Buckeyes will enter the foul shooting contest and their first opponents at the tournament will probably be the Washington Y. Reserves.

The Buckeyes' lineup at the tournament includes Lindell and Small, forwards; Staley, center; Bailey and Skidmore, guards.

RUSSELL NAMED VICE CHAIRMAN BY DIRECTORS

Martin T. Abbott
Treasurer; Dr. King
Secretary.

DINNER MEETING

William C. Smith, Former Magician, is Entertainer.

Clarence J. Vogel last night was named as president of the Wellsville Chamber of Commerce at the annual election of officers, held in the River-view hotel.

The election of the chamber's president and his official aides followed dinner, a program of entertainment and the selection of a directorate.

O. H. Russell, president of the merchants' division of the chamber, was named vice president, Martin T. Abbott treasurer, and Dr. J. M. King secretary.

The following board of directors was chosen:

M. T. Abbott, C. W. Arnold, George Davis, E. T. Ewing, Fred Musser, Dr. J. S. McCulloch, Charles Platt, T. A. Scheels, C. J. Vogel and Dr. J. M. King. O. H. Russell is a member by virtue of his position as president of the merchants' division.

Names of candidates for the directorate were listed on ballots submitted to approximately 40 members of the chamber immediately following dinner. The chamber members checked off their selections and results were announced at the close of the meeting. The directors then convened and named their officers.

William C. Smith, Columbus, of the Hartford Insurance company and a former professional magician, provided the big entertainment feature of the evening. Smith, whose services were obtained through C. W. Arnold, gave an hour's demonstration in the art of necromancy and card tricks.

Other guests of the chamber included C. H. Curtis, Steubenville, of the Hartford Accident Insurance company; Gerald Ryan, East Liverpool; W. C. Sommers, Wheeling division freight agent of the Pennsylvania Railroad company; Ralph Ream, Wheeling, and R. T. Frushour, Cleveland, also of the Pennsylvania Railroad company, and Dandridge Spotswood, industrial engineer.

SALINEVILLE

One hundred and ten farmers were guests at the "Farmers' Day" banquet given by the Salineville Kiwanis club in the dining room of the United Presbyterian church, Thursday noon. A delightful program was presented by the committee, with John Grant as chairman. Music was furnished by the Baker orchestra. The speaker was Rev. Peter W. MacCauley, of Cleveland. The soloist was Edwin Ferguson of East Liverpool. The ladies of the Senior Missionary society served the dinner. The following visitors were awarded prizes: Harry Poland, C. C. Brown, T. F. Rose, S. C. Dorrance, Ben Hutson, W. M. Rourke, Clyde Smith, G. H. White, East Liverpool; Ira Mellinger, Lee-toula, James Wall, Kensington; Rev. Peter MacCauley, Cleveland.

Fashion Revue Opens At Ceramic Theatre

Bathing Beauties Appear in Ron Wood-ward's "Varieties and Models of 1928."

East Liverpool's early Spring Fashion revue was presented at the Ceramic theatre last evening in Ron Woodward's "Varieties and Models of 1928," with merchants cooperating. Nationally known bathing beauties, including the original Miss Ohio, Miss Cleveland, Miss Washington, D. C., and "Miss Fashion Queen of America," a Pittsburgh girl, participated. The musical and dancing parts of the show were also clever features.

The gowns worn by the girls included fashionable frocks, ensembles, coats, millinery and hose from the stock of the Stein store. The shoes of black satin, blonde and tan kid, and silver finish were from the stock of Sharp Shoe store. The jewelry, including watches, bracelets, necklaces and head bands, and the handbags were from the stock of Rubin Jewelry company. The pink Killamey rose used by "Miss Ohio" and the beautiful corsages were furnished by Kell's florists. Society Brand clothes outfitted all the male members of the cast, through the Famous Clothing Store.

The Frank William Company, assisted in decorating the stage by supplying a Kolster radio. The Panatrop was furnished by Smith and Phillips Music Company.

A Nash car, furnished by the Turk-Nash Sales Company, is at the disposal of the bathing beauties during their stay in East Liverpool. It is being powered with Marathon gasoline supplied by the Midway Oil company. The show opened with all the beautiful girls appearing in old fashion costumes, while Bob Whitney sang "Among My Souvenirs." The picture was brought before the minds of the audience of a lonesome man dreaming of his "Sweetheart" of the past. This was undoubtedly one of the most impressive numbers of the production.

MISS MOORE IS PARTY HOSTESS

Miss Margaret Moore entertained a number of friends at the home of her aunt, Mrs. William Moore, Wednesday evening. Games and contests were diversions, prizes being awarded Bruce Thorne and Don Scott. The affair honored the birthday anniversary of Ray Smith.

Guests included Misses Evelyn Benne, Elsie Bach, Eva, Anna and Margaret Moore, Edna Pearson, Helen and Hazel Zadrndt, Sarah Snyder, Oliver Brier, Fay Scott, Sue Gallagher, Betty Beatty and Mary Fraser; Messrs. Don Ray and Edwin Scott, Ray Zadrndt, Theodore Snyder, Ray Smith, Bruce Thorne, Paul Buckley, Clint Pearson, John Brier and Harold Brookes.

Luncheon was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. William Moore, May Moore and Betty Beatty.

W. C. T. U. PLANS COVERDISH PARTY

The Wellsville W. C. T. U. will hold a coverdish party Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Helen Cooper, 608 Broadway. Supper will be served at 7 o'clock after which the regular meeting will be held.

REVIVES OLD DAMAGE ACTION

Police Chief Granted Leave to Answer Petition.

An old damage action has been revived in common pleas court by Judge W. F. Jones, granting leave to Chief of Police John H. Fultz, of Wellsville, to file immediate answer to a petition.

The action was filed by Monroe P. Hogue, as past commander, of a fraternal organization at Wellsville against James S. Barnes Sr. and others.

The suit was to recover $25,000 damages for the invasion of a club room at Wellsville some time prior to the filing of the petition May 16, 1924, and for false statements. Barnes at that time was mayor of Wellsville. The club was raided without authority, it was claimed by the defendant. Fultz was then chief of police at Wellsville and still retains that office.

A meeting of the United Presbyterian church met Wednesday evening in the church parlors. Miss Grace Hart had charge of the meeting. Mrs. Raymond Smith was in charge of the Bible study. Miss Viola Barcus, gave a talk on "New Occasions Teach New Duties." Mrs. Mabel Knox gave a talk from the subject, "Is the Old Fashioned Home Passing?" Miss Phyllis Carter spoke on "The Christian the Best Starting Point for the Child."

The hostesses for this meeting were Miss Louise Smith and Mrs. Maud Haverfield. Hostesses for March meeting are Mrs. Mrs. Mabel Knox and Mrs. Helen Hill.

Mrs. Samuel B. Larkins, who spent the winter in Los Angeles, California, arrived home Wednesday.

Mrs. Walter Kelly of Philadelphia, Pa., who was called to Salineville on account of the death of her nephew, William Daley, returned to her home Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Salisbury and Miss Gertrude Salisbury of Detroit, Mich., and Barry Diven, of Pittsburgh, Pa., attended funeral services for William Daley in Salineville Wednesday afternoon.

"Did You Mean It," featuring Whitney and Georgia Preston, was a delightful offering.

Ron Woodyard presented the bathing beauties, who appeared in beach costumes. They appeared in the following order: Miss Cleveland, Miss Washington, D. C., Miss Ohio and Miss Fashion Queen of America." Each received a well deserved hand on their appearance.

"Starlight and Tulpis," brought "Miss Washington" on the stage attired in a charming frock displaying jewelry.

The doll dance was a feature in which four of the beauties appeared. Louise Anderson, late Broadway favorite and a former member of the cast of George White's Scandals, won the approval of the audience by her clever dancing.

"Miss Ohio" wore a charming gown in the Rose Girl number.

The finale brought the entire company on the stage, with the young ladies dressed in Maytime costumes.

"Varieties and Models of 1928" will continue today and tomorrow, with a matinee and two night shows.

Embroideries made in this country have been introduced into Colombia.

Best For Weak Back

Are you suffering from the misery of a lame, aching back? You can get almost instant relief by putting on a Johnson's Red Cross Kidney Plaster. It warms, soothes and supports the weak back, and gently massages the tissues with every movement of the body, thus helping to restore proper circulation and normal strength. Johnson's Red Cross Kidney Plaster brings amazingly quick results because the medication penetrates straight through the skin to the affected parts—pain goes, soreness leaves, power returns, almost immediately. And you get lasting relief, too, for the medication is continually absorbed as long as the plaster remains on the body. Try a Red Cross Kidney Plaster tonight and prove how quickly it drives away the misery of a weak back.

Just go to any drug store and ask for Johnson's, the big Red Cross Kidney Plaster with the red damask back.

Says Reds Threaten India.

If India is Bolshevized and thrown into utter confusion, as China has been, the world outlook will be black indeed, declares the Maharajah of Burdwan, one of the greatest Indian nobles and respected in Europe for his intelligence and foresight. In an interview granted recently, he said that India is the pivotal point in the Moscow campaign against Western civilization, and that the Soviet is making extraordinary effort to stir up the North West Frontier tribes. The Maharajah added that in the old Czarist days the risk to India from Russia was much less grave than it is today.

STATE HIGHWAY DIRECTOR PUTS O. K. ON COUNTY'S ROAD BUILDING

George F. Schlesinger and Assistants Inspect Improved Highways, Then Visit Mahoning County.

LISBON, Feb. 17.—Columbiana county's road building program as outlined by the county commissioners has been approved by State Highway Director George F. Schlesinger, following an inspection trip with other highway officials.

Schlesinger was accompanied by Assistant Maintenance Engineer Raymond Smith of Columbus; Division Engineer L. A. Breen of Ravenna and County Surveyor Lloyd C. Kirk.

The party later drove into Mahoning county, and after inspecting roads there entered Ashtabula and Cuyahoga counties.

The trip over Columbiana county began at the west end of Wellsville, thence east to East Liverpool, and then north, over the East Liverpool-Youngstown road, to Williamsport, and back to Apples' corners, and into Lisbon.

The party then made a trip over the Lincoln highway west from Lisbon to Hanover, thence to Salem, Damascus, and then south over the Valley-Georgetown road to East Rochester. From there they drove over the new mile section at Kensington and thence to Lisbon.

Director Schlesinger declared that Columbiana county is one of the leading counties in the United States for improved highways, with especial reference to high type of construction, and that the program is now being copied in many counties not only in Ohio but also in other states.

TWO DIVORCE SUITS FILED

LISBON, Feb. 17.—Through her counsel, F. E. Grosshans of East Liverpool, Bertha J. Tuttle has filed her petition for divorce against her husband Ralph C. Tuttle, of East Liverpool, charging him with gross neglect of duty. They were married at Lisbon, Dec. 5, 1921.

Through the same counsel Nellie A. Cantner has filed a petition for divorce against J. W. Cantner of Belmont, W. Va. They were married at Wheeling, W. Va., June 1, 1915. Extreme cruelty for over a period of three years is set up in the petition. She asks the court to restore her to her maiden name Nellie A. Geren.

WOOL GROWERS MEET FEB. 21

LISBON, Feb. 17.—Farmers from more than 60 Ohio counties are expected to attend the annual meetings of the Ohio Livestock Cooperative association and the Ohio Wool Growers Cooperative association which will be held in Columbus, February 21 and 22. Those who will represent this county are C. S. Hull and S. G. Howard.

A feature of the two day meeting will be an address by J. F. Walker, one of the organizers and for several years field secretary of the wool growers association. Walker recently returned from an eight month trip of inspection of sheep and wool growing sections of Australia, South Africa and Europe, as agent for the United States department of agriculture.

Auto Company Sued.

LISBON, Feb. 17.—The Salem Chattel Mortgage company, of Salem, has filed a petition in common pleas court against L. W. Carter and Harry Crumbaugh, doing business as the Crumbaugh-Chevrolet company, to recover $333 claimed to be due on a series of notes given to secure the payment of an automobile.

Marriage Licenses.

LISBON, Feb. 17.—A marriage license has been issued to Samuel Simon, residing at Unity and Miss Clara Landsberger, also of Unity, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Landsberger.

Sebring

The "Romance of Power" was the topic explained at McKinley high school assembly Monday morning by C. W. Malone of East Liverpool, an official of the Ohio Power company. Malone showed a number of stereopticon views of power projects. His lecture and slide covered some of the uses of electrical power and some of the novel uses that has been made of electricity in the last few years.

Mrs. Charles Peterson, South 15th street, entertained her Sunday school class of girls of the Lutheran church at her home Monday evening. Guests passed the evening playing games and staging contests. Lunch was served by the hostess.

Valentine day was celebrated by the Just-A-Mere club with a party in the home of Mrs. June Walsner, North 15th street. Six tables of bridge were in play. The grand prize was awarded to Mrs. Verna Courtney. Mrs. Mary Lucke won the guest prize and the club prize went to Mrs. Ruth Weaver. A two-course lunch was served by the hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Ferguson, West Indiana avenue, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Ilo Winfred, to George Edward Roberts, of Youngstown, son of Mrs. Rachel Roberts. The ceremony took place in Youngstown at the Calvary Baptist church. Mr. Roberts is employed in the office of the Republic Iron and Steel company of Youngstown. The young couple are living in Youngstown.

M. A. Sutherland and James Meek, both of Sebring, attended a birthday party at the Salem Country club Monday night. The party was in honor of C. C. Metz of Salem, a cousin of the Sebring men.

Contract for painting the interior of the Methodist church was let to G. M. ed and J. E. Tarbert was elected treasurer. The office of secretary is yet to be filled.

More than 40 young people, students in the Methodist Sunday school class taught by S. H. Pollock, were entertained in the annex Monday evening. Plans were made for the year's work.

Rev. and Mrs. J. H. Miller were visited Sunday by their children, Miss Margaret, a teacher at Dormont, Pa., Miss Dorothy, a teacher at Duquesne, Pa., and their son, Kenneth, who is a student at the Pittsburgh Theological seminary.

Negley

Mr. and Mrs. George Mitchell, Mrs. F. R. Ellis and Miss Marie Shockey were business callers in Beaver Falls Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Greer and family of New Brighton spent Sunday with relatives here.

Miss Doris McMillen of East Palestine spent Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. Everett Booth.

Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Lamping and family of East Liverpool were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Festus Wilson. Concert given in the Methodist church Friday by the choir of the Methodist church of Alliance, under the auspices of Class No. 7, was largely attended.

LeeRoy Stewart of Youngstown spent Sunday with friends here.

Miss Ruth and Lewis Noel spent the week-end with friends at Sherodsville.

Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Fryfogel and family visited during the week-end at their home near Sebring.

—New Process in—
Cleaning Hats

A new machine used only by the Royal Hat Cleaning Co. does away with the odor common in hats newly cleaned. Steam is sterilized before it touches the hat instead of being used direct from pipe as formerly done. Hair is refined in felt and hats take on natural color as in factory process. They are dried before being cleaned, thus assuring a perfect block.

New Block equipment gives hats perfect shape.

Hats may be enlarged without damage to fibers, an improvement over the old hand process.

This new machine is used in the larger cities by the more exclusive, up-to-date hat cleaning shops.

Jordan Quality
at
New Lower Prices

TWELVE years ago, in the first Jordan advertisement, we stated that it was the Jordan idea "to build a chassis of finished mechanical excellence to be equipped with a series of custom style bodies."

Many thousands of Jordan owners throughout the world, know from actual experience, the soundness of that idea.

Composed of the same group of aggressive young men who founded it, The Jordan Company is today vigorously pursuing that original idea—producing a line of fine quality six and eight cylinder cars.

In anticipation of much more ambitious production plans for the coming year, the prices of both series have been recently reduced from two to three hundred dollars.

The cars have not been changed in any respect—Jordan has never compromised with quality.

We believe that these motor cars, at the new prices, represent more comfort, more performance, more good looks and more real satisfactory service per dollar of investment than it is possible to find in any other automobile.

Jordan cars will be exhibited at our Show Rooms so that you may examine them from an appearance standpoint—and special demonstrations will be arranged at any time so that you may test the real worth of the cars by actually driving them yourself.

To women who think all margarines alike!

If you are one of those who think all margarines alike, Jelke GOOD LUCK will be a revelation to you. For it has a flavor which simply can't be told from that of the most expensive spreads-for-bread. This flavor is the result of using nourishing meat products instead of cheaper vegetable oils. Try it . . . both on your table and in cooking.

E. PALESTINE MAN NAMED IN STATE FINDING

School District Clerk
Owes $405.73, Examiner Says.

"EXCESS SALARY"

Charge Warrant Was
Cashed and Later
Destroyed.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 17.—That J. W. Davis, as clerk of the East Palestine city school district, Columbiana county, owed $405.73 was the claim contained in a report made public here today by State Auditor Joseph T. Tracy. The report covered an examination by State Examiner Rosabel Loney, of the school accounts of the East Palestine district for the period from Sept. 1, 1925, to Nov. 26, last. The report charged that Davis should repay $180 alleged to have been received as "excess salary" in 1925 and $225.73 as funds said to have been "embezzled."

Examiner Loney held that, out of $540 said to have been paid Davis as salary in 1925, he was only entitled to $360. There was no record, the examiner stated, that the school board had increased Davis' salary from $30 to $45 per month.

The report stated that a warrant, dated Sept. 23, 1925, for $180, made payable to the American Book company, was cashed by Davis and destroyed. Claim, also, was made in the report that a refund check for $45.73, sent by this company to Davis in 1925, was not deposited.

JAIL STRIKING MINER'S WIFE

St. Clairsville Woman
Held for Alleged Attack.

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, O., Feb. 17.—Mrs. Karasa Zuminini, said to be the wife of a union miner, is held on a charge of violating a federal injunction, here today, following a reported attack upon Superintendent Thomas Willis of the Crabapple mine. This is the second time Willis reported attacks.

Eighty-one non-union miners working at the Crabapple mine, today petitioned Gov. Donahey for protection, it was reported here.

Postal authorities have been asked to investigate two threatening letters reported by the St. Clairsville Gazette, which was accused of sympathizing with the coal operators.

Many women of Japan have organized to aid the Farmer-Labor party.

Safe Relief

You need not guess what Tonsiline contains. We print the ingredients on every bottle. They are known to be reliable for the treatment of inflamed conditions of the throats and mouths of children and adults and have been favorites in the prescriptions of physicians for many years. Over thirty years use proves Tonsiline is the perfect combination of these valuable drugs. Don't accept a substitute. Insist on the bottle with the long necked fellow on it.

Columbiana

The first meeting of Mahoning Presbytery in Columbiana for many years was held Tuesday, in the Presbyterian church. Women of the church served dinner to the delegates. The evening service was open to the general public, with Dr. William C. Covert of Philadelphia, secretary of the National Board of Christian Education, as speaker. Dr. Covert also spoke at the afternoon session, as did Rev. Andrew M. Forrester of New York, the latter on the subject of "The Every Member Canvass." Dr. William Weir of Philadelphia, was the chief speaker at the supper conference. Pandora Rebekah lodge held initiation of candidates Monday evening at their meeting in I. O. O. F. hall. Out-of-town visitors included: Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Davis, Mrs. Cora Schwartz and Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Buck and daughter, all of Salem. Mr. Davis, who was recently honored with the grand degree of chivalry, explained the methods and purposes of granting the degree of chivalry. Following the meeting a social was enjoyed. The Bible class of the Christian Sunday school held a social and business meeting Tuesday evening at the church.

Miss Erma Beale, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Edward Beale of Youngstown, formerly of Washingtonville, and Otto Stacey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence W. Stacey of Columbiana, were married Friday at the bride's apartment of Market street, Youngstown. Rev. Beale performed the ceremony. Following the wedding, a luncheon was served at Burt's, after which they left on a brief motor trip. Mrs. Stacey is a teacher in the West Side school, Youngstown, while the groom is an employee of the Youngstown and Suburban Transportation company. They will reside in Youngstown. Those from Columbiana who were guests at the wedding were: Mrs. L. W. Stacey, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Stacey, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Stacey, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Buchecker and Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Mallory.

Miss Mary Campbell, Salem, spent the weekend with her friend, Mrs. F. W. Trader and family, South Main street.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Ruhlman and family, Woodworth, were local business callers Saturday.

Rev. and Mrs. P. C. Clark, Saybrook, visited recently in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Miller and family, South Main street.

Miss Sara Fuhrman of Salem, spent Saturday with her mother, Mrs. Susie Fuhrman, North Elm street.

John Benninghoff of Mt. Union college spent the weekend at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Benninghoff, North Main street.

Mrs. Will Graebing of Wellsville, was called to Columbus Friday by the death of her aunt, Mrs. Aaron Overholt.

Mrs. Emma Weller has been called to Youngstown by the death of her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Herbert Weller, which occurred Saturday night.

Curtis Detwiler, student at Mt. Union college, spent the weekend at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs.

Elmer Detwiler and family, North Main street.

Mr. and Mrs. James Dickinson and family, Youngstown, visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Dickinson, Pearl street.

A group of friends spent Sunday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Bowman, South Elm street, and enjoyed a coverdish supper. IF MOTHERS ONLY KNEW

During these days how many children are complaining of Headache, Feverishness, Stomach Troubles and Irregular Bowels and take cold easily. If mothers only knew what Mother Gray's Sweet Powders would do for their children, no family would ever be without them for use when needed. These powders are so easy and pleasant to take and so effective in their action that mothers who once use them gladly tell others about them. Save yourself a night of worry, by getting a package at your druggist today. Trial Package sent FREE. Address Mother Gray Co., Le Roy, N. Y.

Lesson No. 5

Question: Why should each children receive emulsified cod-liver oil?

Answer: Because the strain of the study-period and playground uses up energy, and emulsified cod-liver oil not only provides energy but also protects with its vitamins.

Mothers know the value of SCOTT'S EMULSION

Acid Stomach Is Dangerous

Sufferers From Indigestion Should CUT THIS OUT

Stomach trouble, dyspepsia, indigestion, sourness, gas, heartburn, food fermentation, etc., are caused nine times in ten by "too much acid" in the stomach.

The acid irritates and inflames the delicate stomach lining, and often leads to gastritis or dangerous stomach ulcers. Never dose an acid stomach with pepper or artificial digestants that give merely temporary relief. You must get at the cause.

The best plan is to neutralize or sweeten your acid stomach after meals with a little Bismarck Magnesia. Then not only will the pain and sourness quickly vanish but your food will digest properly as nature intended.

Be sure to use genuine Bismarck Magnesia. There is nothing better to settle an upset acid stomach. You feel fine in five minutes. Mathews' Med. Store and reliable druggists everywhere say it must give complete satisfaction or its small cost will be returned. Bismarck Magnesia comes in both powder and convenient tablet form. Handy to carry about, easy to use, not a laxative, and, for making a disordered stomach do its duty, it works like a charm.

Slain Publisher's Father Dies. CLEVELAND, Feb. 17.—Funeral services for Moses Kaber, 79, will be held in the home in Lakewood, today.

Kaber died late Tuesday following an operation. He had been ill one week. Kaber was the father of Dan Kaber, wealthy publisher, who was murdered in his Lakewood home eight years ago.

Newark Priest Dies Suddenly. NEWARK, O., Feb. 17.—Funeral arrangements were being made here today for the Rev. Father C. H. A. Wattersen, 60, pastor of the Church of the Blessed Sacrament. Father Waterson died suddenly Wednesday night while visiting at the home of one of his parishioners.

When Women Went Back to the Kitchen

The kitchen, for many years, was the battleground of feminism. The Mid Victorian's woman's famous trinity of "church, children and kitchen" gradually gave way before the battlecry of "Come Out of the Kitchen" and women did come out in ever increasing numbers until the World War and the scarcity of maids sent most of them scurrying back in again.

After all, women concluded, the kitchen was the workshop of the home, but if they could not change conditions, at least they could change the kitchen, which was responsible for the modern slogan, "Color in your kitchen."

Today it is surprising to note the charming decorative effects that can be achieved by adapting the old fashioned ginghams and percales of our childhood, into crisp, ruffy drapes or breakfast doilies. If your kitchen seems drab and cheerless, take a stroll thru our Cotton Goods Department. At a trifling cost you can transform it into one of the most charming rooms in your house.

Sugar-Cured Sugardale Ham!

A new treat in meat!

OF COURSE it would be Sugardale—this new meat that everyone who has tried it is talking about. Sugardale Ham always has been the favorite of thousands, but this new Sugardale Ham! Sweet as honey, tender and tasty as a porterhouse steak, full of smoky tang and snap, yet so mild it needs no parboiling.

Here is a luxurious delicacy that will delight the most finicky appetite, yet its moderate price puts it within the reach of everyone.

Don't think of ham—this new Sugardale product is so different, so full of a flavor all its own, that it will seem like a brand-new meat.

Try it today—smoked or already boiled or baked for serving. And save money by buying a whole or half ham.

At the same time, try the new sugar-cured Sugardale Bacon—made from the same selected choice young porkers as the new Sugardale Ham. For sale in slabs or sliced, in the sanitary half-pound packages of transparent paper.

For the busy housewife, Sugardale has a variety of meats already cooked and ready-to-serve. Each is specially prepared to give it a delicious flavor you'll like. Try these and delight your family:

Sliced Bacon	Pressed Ham
Ham	Pinto Loaf
Country Club	Meat Loaf
Sausage	Ham Loaf
Baked Ham	Goose Liver
Boiled Ham	Sausage
Hanover Ham	Kup Sausage
Wieners	Fresh Sausage
Bologna	Smoked Sausage
Minced Ham	Dried Beef

Sugardale Ham on sale today at all leading stores. Look for the blue diamond—make sure it's genuine Sugardale—a new treat in meat.

To the Woman Who Takes Pride in Her Home

The desire to have the home furnished in a cozy, up-to-date manner—even at any cost—is a story as old as the hills.

From time immemorial, Housewives have gloried in the appearance of their home and their ambitions were ever toward it's betterment. Even then, the acquisition of the musical instrument, then in vogue, was a point of distinction and was sought after by every home loving woman.

Today, it is but little different. Styles have changed, 'tis true; Furniture of new designs has replaced the old. Draperies and Floor coverings are a bit more colorful and cheery, but the one outstanding fact remains the same. A Musical instrument is absolutely essential—if the home is to be correctly styled.

And Today—That instrument is the GRAND PIANO. Peerless as an object of beauty—unequaled as a musical instrument.

Think it over—realize what a difference a Grand Piano would mean to your home—then come in and we'll show you the most beautiful models you ever laid eyes on, and they're priced within reason too.

BROADWAY

A Thrilling Story of the Night Clubs
By Phillip Dunning and George Abbott.

"Well, I said once—and I'm willin' to repeat it—I didn't know him!" said Porky. Immediately realizing his mistake and becoming panicky again.

Dan picked this opening up, sharply. "How do you know you didn't see him, since you don't know him?"

"Well—I—there wasn't any one here when I came in"—he floundered, looking appealingly toward Steve for help.

"No one?" said Dan, slowly.

Steve cut in quickly, but kept his manner deliberate. "Well, I was—but I was in the office."

McCorm spoke to little Dolph, catching him as he hovered restlessly near his boss. "Oh, and you were where, Dolph?"

"I was out riding with a couple of jakes," Dolph spoke promptly, through the side of his mouth. "And if you want me to bring 'em into court and tell about it, I'll be glad to oblige you—" and then ended, innocently.

"Why? What happened?"

"No matter what it is, you got your alibi all fixed now, eh?" said McCorm.

Immediately Dolph snarled and advanced, fists doubled up. "What do you mean?"

Steve sprang to pull him back. "Dan don't mean a thing, Dolph. Treat him civil even if he is a dick."

Dan was undisturbed and spoke placidly. "When did you get here tonight, Dolph?"

"Early, then I left Steve here and went out for the ride," said Dolph sulkily.

"You left Steve alone?" Dan said.

"No, Porky was here!" Steve supplied again.

"When you left?" Dan questioned, still looking at Dolph.

Dolph was becoming confused. "No, I was—" Porky decided to help matters. "I was just coming in when he was going out—"

"Oh," drawled Dan, "now I got it—Steve was here when Porky comes in, but Porky didn't see him cause Steve was in the office." Then turning to Porky who gulped—"Well, how did you know Steve was in the office if you didn't see him?"

Porky was stumped. "Why—I—"

Steve had had plenty of this third degree stuff. It was too dangerous with weaklings like Porky and Dolph. He stepped toward McCorm, belligerently. "He could hear me talking—the door was open!" he said.

"Say, Dan, you been all over this once. Now, listen, if you think any of us here had anything to do with it, why, go ahead and make the pinch; let's get some bail fixed and get it over with. But don't stand around here and make a coroner's inquest out of the place. I got a party on here tonight."

"Well, now listen, sweetheart, why get excited?" Dan spoke unhurriedly. "You know it's my business to ask questions, ain't it? I know you guys didn't have any thing to do with it, but I got to make a report and I'm workin' at this from a couple of angles."

"Sure, Dan,—that's right," agreed Porky, only too glad to be amiable.

"Trouble with you, Steve, is that you've had so much business with a lot of half-baked federal dicks you ain't used to talking to just a plain old New York cop and more," said McCorm.

"Well, maybe you're right," said Steve, smiling slightly, placated for the moment.

Dan shook his head. "I ain't always been wrong lots of times, but this case of Edwards interests me too terribly. You see, whether a guy shoots square or not, according to the law, ain't always it—but no matter who he's done, to me, he should have a break; and somebody shot this guy in the back—" And with his parting and pregnant speech, McCorm started out down the hall.

Pennies, one of the Chicago gorillas, in an ill-fitting tuxedo, burst in that minute, shouting, "Hey, fellows!" He had prominent yellow teeth, a large, loose mouth, a pair of black, shiny eyes, and a mass of straight black hair, sleeked down on his low forehead. He reeked of gin and whiskey.

Dan half-turned and looked at him. "Well, Bennie, you're out in Chicago now, eh?" he observed.

"Huh? What's the idea?" said Bennie, thickly, but McCorm had gone down the hall.

Dolph slunk after him, cursing him under his breath. "What you doing back here, Bennie?" Steve asked gruffly. "We ain't ready for you yet."

"The boys want to be with the lingerie," mumbled Bennie, thickly; then looking after Dan McCorm, his eyes gleaming evilly—"The nerve of that big still looking at me that way!"

The buzzer sounded and the cabaret music was heard. The girls started down the stairs, ready for the pirate number. Bennie kept on talking his voice becoming louder, his eyes bloodshot—"What's the idea, an' how?"

"Nothing that concerns you, Bennie," said Steve, trying to quiet him—"just a local nuisance by the name of Scar Edwards got bumped off tonight, that's all."

There was a short scream followed by a dull thud. "What—what's the matter?" cried Grace.

Pearl, the new weenie, had fallen in a faint on the stairs.

"Pearl!" Mazie stooped to help up the crumpled figure. The others crowded around with exclamations: "What happened?" "Pearl! But, dearie, you must go—"

Pearl struggled to her feet. "I'm all right," she said through tight lips.

"What is it, Pearl?"

She tried to push them away. "I tell you I'm all right."

"See Christmas, kid," sympathized Mazie.

"What'd you do?"

"I tripped on the stairs, that's all."

"I thought you fainted," said Ruby.

"Fainted? For what?" Pearl said, pugnaciously.

"Twisted my ankle, that's all."

Steve had strolled over. "Sure you're all right?"

"Sure I am," said Pearl, limping over to the prop table, her face as gray as the face of a corpse.

CHAPTER 34.

Steve dismissed the incident. "All right, Bennie," he said to the gentleman from Chicago who was watching the girls with a leer on his face, "bring your bunch back—pretty near time anyhow—go ahead, Dolph!"

Dolph took Bennie out, helping him a little.

Steve called the girls around him and they came flocking, giggling and pushing each other, property dangers for the pirate number in their hands. Only Pearl remained in the background bowed over in a chair, a hand holding her ankle.

"I want to buy you a drink. What say?" said Steve.

"We can't now," Mazie spoke up. "We're on for this flash you know."

"All right," said Steve, "I'll have a flock of them waiting for you as soon as you come off. All ready for a big night?"

"Try us!" Mazie beamed.

"I'm going to," Steve said, pulling something from his pocket. "Now here you are, girls—see these $100 certificates? Well, you each get one of them." He flourished the bills, tantalizingly.

The girls squealed and a series of "Atta, boys" and "You tell 'em" went up. Eager hands reached out. Steve, smiling, drew back. "Wait a minute—this is the way we do it—I'll team 'em in half and give each one of you your bit—now if you're all good babies, when the party is over, I'll tack the other half on fair?" And before they could reply he had torn the bills across and was passing them out to each of the girls.

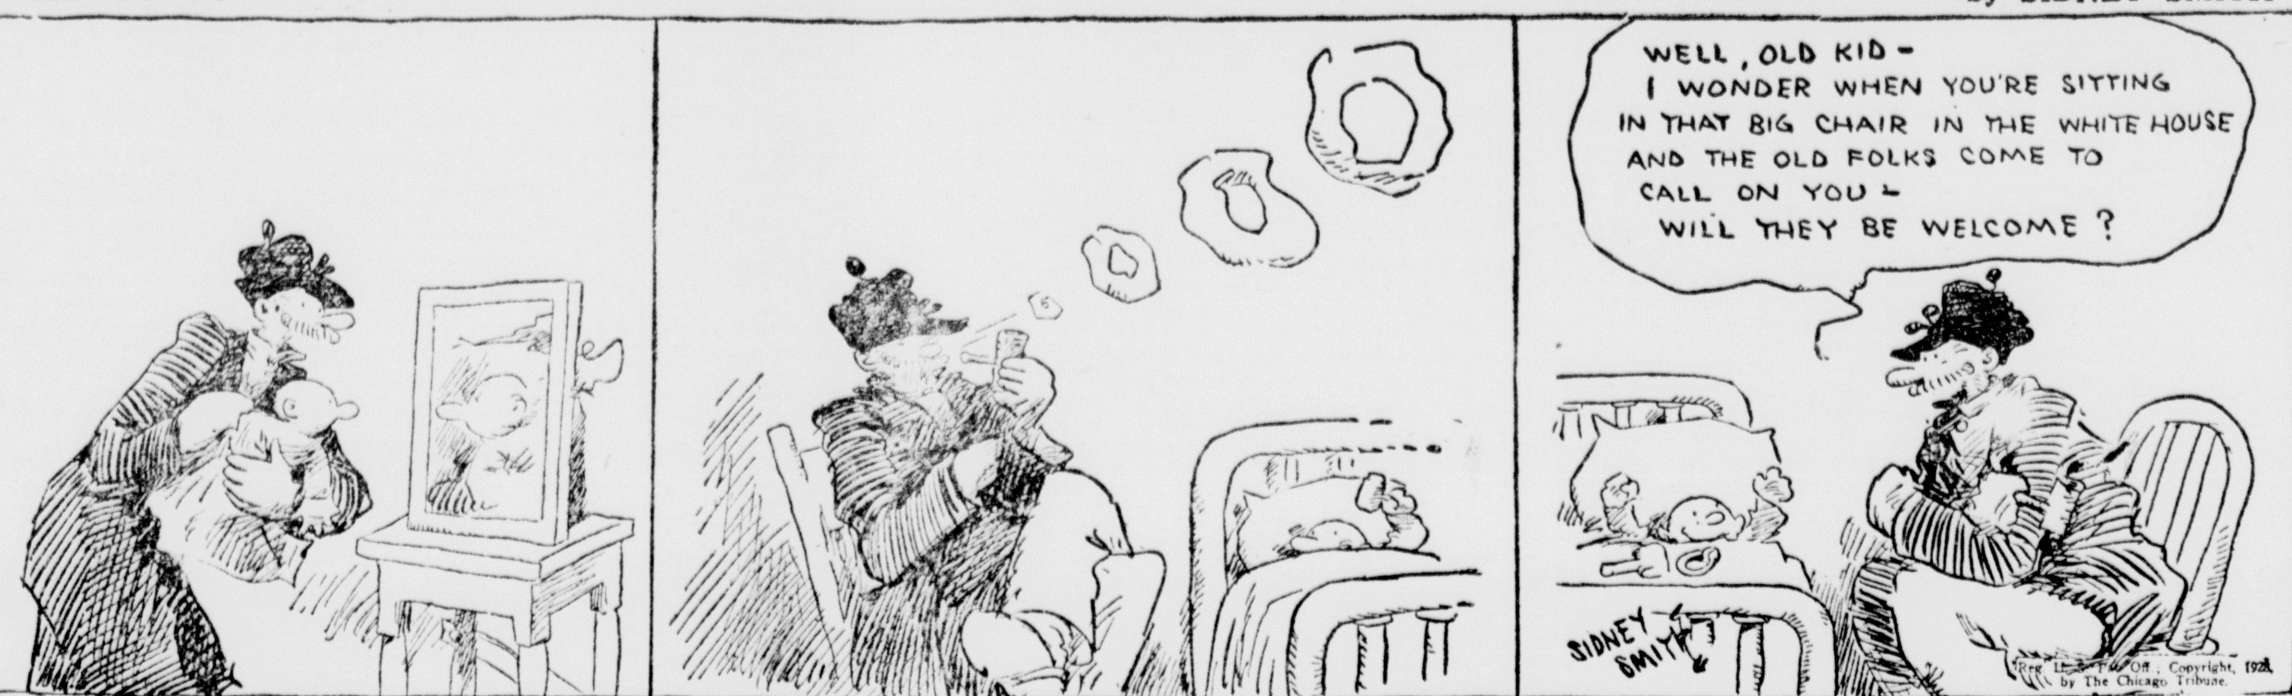

The girls squealed louder and tucked the half-bills away in safe places. They complimented Steve in the lingo of the night clubs. "Everything is hotzy-totzy! whooped the loud Ruby, hoping that before the evening was over she might fall into the good graces of Steve again.

"Just be yourselves with these friends of mine and the sky's the limit," Steve promised. "This party will be nobody's business." He walked over to Pearl who remained seated, boyish head bowed, pretending to nurse her ankle. She did not look up as he spoke but she took the torn bill. "If you make good, Pearl, you get the other half," he said.

ANNIE LAURIE'S
TIMELY ADVICE

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a young girl of sixteen and I am in love with a young man twenty years old. He tells me he loves me and expects to marry me as soon as I turn seventeen, but the only thing that would stop us from getting married is the difference in our religion. I'd marry him anyway, but my mother objects. She likes him and she says he may make a good husband, but there would always be trouble about religion. Please, advise me what to do.

BLONDY.

BLONDY: The problem of inter-marriage is one that can be solved only by the persons immediately involved, as no two cases seem to work out alike. There is so much that is to be considered over such an issue. Your mother may be quite right; for no matter how sure you are of yourself now, at some future date, the difference in your religion may unexpectedly crop up and cause some disturbance. Also, since no two people are altogether self-sufficient or independent, you must consider the effects of such a step upon your relations and friends. While your family may accept this man, your friends may refuse to or his friends may exclude you from their circle. To save yourself from the hurt that this might cause you, you would have to anticipate it well in advance so that it would not surprise you. It is impossible for me to tell you what to do;

I can only discuss the matter with you. Personally I think you are too young to be considering marriage and would advise you to wait a few years before you take such a step. Also, I would suggest that you talk this particular matter over with the pastor of your church. He will be able to advise you fully and, I am sure, he will be glad to help you.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl twenty years of age and considered quite good-looking but that doesn't help much.

It seems that no matter how hard I try, I cannot get a boy that I really like to ask me to go out with him. I can't find the reason why. Please, do not think that I am "boy crazy," as I am old enough to know better.

For instance, boys always seek introduction to me when at a party, club meeting, etc.; they sometimes "rush" me, but as fast as they come, they go. I cannot understand it. During the meeting, party, etc., I always have a number around me, but when it's time to go home, they all drift away, and yours truly goes home by herself.

BROKEN-HEARTED: Obviously there is something lacking somewhere, my dear, and since people are attracted and seek introductions to you, the fault must be yours. I would suggest that you analyze yourself and take note of your shortcomings that you may correct them. Cultivate a manner of assurance and ease; improve yourself generally so that you are interesting as well as attractive. Your letter does not read as though you were lacking in intelligence and you might do well to realize the importance of that quality. You yourself know that the combination of beauty and brains is in heavy demand, and since you have the good looks you must make your mentality equally as attractive so that you can unquestionably offer both qualities. Another thing, perhaps, when in the company of those you like you are too interested to leave any doubt in their minds, but that you are obviously eager to know them better. This is in itself a fault, as it reveals your attitude too

Short Skirts Bring Health.

Doctors and fashion experts of France have declared that the death rate amongst French women is in adverse proportion to the length of their skirts. French women are said to have never been so healthy as since the abolition of the corset and the coming of the knee-length skirt. When they were covered from neck to heel, and their skirts swept up the dust, they were more liable to tuberculosis than men. Present medical statistics show that today, after five years of "reform" clothing, women comprise only one-fourth of the tubercular patients that are under treatment.

WHY SHOULD YOU SUFFER?

Hundreds of people right in this town have found quick relief and positive help by the use of this famous prescription. Hundreds of others suffer along, all dragged down, worn out before they commence, getting along with aches and pains, simply because they are not profiting by their neighbor's experience and taking the remarkable

World's Tonic

You cannot expect to be well while part of your body is stagnating with catarrh. That is what most of your trouble comes from. First there is inflammation of the mucous membrane that lines every part of your body exposed to the air. Blood congests—the membrane stagnates. Instead of doing its duty, it slowly poisons your whole body with foul secretion.

Sometimes your liver, or your kidneys, or your stomach gives way first. Whatever it is, you are half sick, dragging around, miserable all the time.

World's Tonic is for that condition—the result of a vast amount of research. It is prescribed to make you well—to stimulate your organs, drive out the poisons, enliven the processes, and clear up the catarrh.

You can't know until you try it. Then what we say will be mild compared to your praise. Start out today to be well! One bottle will make a big difference.

Sold by Carnahan's also C. N. Brannon's, Wellsville, and all other first class druggists.

After Ten Years

"For ten years I had suffered from catarrhal trouble. It spread from my nose and throat until it seemed to be all through my body.

"I doctored the symptoms. When my stomach suffered I took stomach medicine. My liver seemed inactive and I kept stirring it up. Sometimes I got a little relief, but these troubles came back.

"Then I started taking World's Tonic. The first bottle helped me greatly, and at the end of four bottles my troubles were gone. It was a wonderfully cheap way to get well, and I owe it to you to tell you about it." Hannah Jouner, 2313 East Ave., Beaver Falls, (210)

RADIO SPANS ATLANTIC FOR TWO AUDIENCES

Engineers of New York and London Meet Jointly.

PHONE CIRCUIT Marks Demonstration of Trans-ocean Tie-up.

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—The world has been drawn still closer. Radio, brain-child of man, made one auditorium for two audiences, separated by 3,000 miles of water. Knitted together through a trans-Atlantic radio telephone circuit, the American Institute of Electrical Engineers in New York, met jointly with the British Institution of electrical engineers in London.

The demonstration marked the employment of the trans-Atlantic circuit for the first time as a means of communication between large audiences, normally assembled without individual telephone equipment.

4,000 Listen in.
The meeting opened at 10:25 a. m. and lasted for 23 minutes. In New York, an overflow gathering of 2,000 people listened in one auditorium, while 1,000 persons tuned in upstairs. In London more than 1,000 persons were gathered.
Three large amplifiers in the hall brought the voices from overseas to the ears of the listeners. The tones were so clear that listeners could scarcely tell whether it was London or a speaker on the New York platform talking.
A resolution that this new scientific link between the old world and the new world should form the basis of an increase of good and understanding among nations, was unanimously adopted by both audiences in London and New York.
